SHOW WINDOW SELLING

Your show window either invites people to come into your store—or it discourages them from entering.

The first impression received by persons glancing toward a show window is that of light—always light. A thoroughly well lighted window will hold the eye—and the step of the passer-by. Conversely, a poorly lighted window will create a feeling of indifference.

A well lighted window is the first step in a sale. It is itself a salesman, effective and relatively low salaried. Many, very many, storekeepers forget this.

We inspect your lighting and suggest improvement without charge.

A whale of a difference was made in this home
by a little remodeling

To see for yourself how much attractiveness, comfort and value was added to the old home shown below, just cut out in outline the above picture. Lay this on the large picture in the correct position and observe the wonderful transformation effected by the expenditure of a little money.

You'll be interested to see our book "Old Homes Made New" which shows eleven other homes which have been remodeled.

You will profit and our entire city will be improved in appearance when you remodel your old home. Come in and let us tell you how it can be done.
