A HINT TO SUBSCRIBERS?

To those subscribers to The Enterprise who have been sending copies of the paper, after reading it, to distant friends and relatives we would suggest that it would be more economical to have the paper sent directly from this office, by subscribing for it for them, as the new postal rate on that class of mail is about equal to the subscription price. Why not subscribe for The Enterprise in their names and save the trouble of mailing?

Some people who think they are cut out for society are a mighty poor fit.

Power in Good Clothes

When a man goes in for better clothes he courts higher things. A change of suits may mean a change of luck. A clean shirt tickles the ribs.
Good clothes make a good impression and good impressions win the day. The right man with the right suit makes the pomp of emperors seem ridiculous.
Good clothes are the bootstraps by which a man puts himself up in life.
Personality is a great deal, but personality plus clothes is a pat hand.—

"Fasting Marvel" Hungry

It was past midnight when the row broke out in an English village clearly such a did that the neighbors cottagers sent for the village policeman. "Well," he said, as he made his way over to the tent ropes. "And what's all this?" Hastily the half-dad proprietor reassured him. "It's only the 'fasting marvel,' he said. 'He's complaining because his supper was late.'"
