Fire Protection

The people of the Oakland Heights Community have come to realize the dire need of fire protection. At present no community protection whatever is available and very few of the homes are equipped with fire extinguishers.

The Oakland Heights Community Improvement Association has taken steps to study the situation and through the efforts of a special committee has collected considerable data relative to efficient fire protection.

In order to acquaint the entire community with the need for things along this line, and to give them an opportunity to decide what shall be done to provide same, a community meeting has been arranged for Friday evening, October 9, at the Glanville Golf Club house, on the Thirtieth street, just east of Orchard Lake road. Several recognized authorities on the subject of community fire protection will be present to give their advice and suggestions.

The protection of home and property is one of the foremost duties of all good Americans and it is hoped that the entire community will turn out and take an active interest in deciding how their property can best be protected from the ravages of that dreaded foe, "Fire."

The Difference

It used to be that one day in the week was the trial of the housewife and the terror of her family.

Wash-day was a day of unrest, confusion and back-breaking toil, of hasty meals and general discomfort.

To-day, electricity does the family washing quickly, perfectly and cheaply; the peace and comfort of the household are undisturbed.

The Electric Washer is indispensable; and it is within the means of every family. We supply them.

THE DETROIT EDISON CO.

Superintendent A. A. Kaldor and his corps of six teachers who this year have charge of the Clarenceville schools. Their pastor, superintendent and teachers have in a very short time found a warm spot in the hearts of the people of Clarenceville and their formal welcome will give expression to a fine sentiment of co-operation already aroused. The program of entertainment will consist of refreshments, music and talks.

Mrs. C. Hallman entertained relatives from Detroit, Wednesday. John Grace has sold his new home on Rensselaer avenue to a Mr. Scott of Fourth Gate.

John Hallman met with a slight accident with his car Sunday, while on his way to Detroit.

Mrs. C. Day of Detroit was a visitor at the home of her son, C. Day, Jr., at Hemlock, Sunday.

Lillian Wilkinson of Fourth Gate entertained her class of Sunday School girls, Tuesday evening.

Mr. Scott of Fourth Gate has just returned from Harper Hospital, where he underwent an operation.

A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rosenboom fell from a tree at their home recently, breaking an arm.

The Clarenceville Parent-Teachers Association will meet at the school house, Base Line, Thursday afternoon.

Fish That Flirt.

Fish that climb trees, monkeys that brush their teeth after meals, and birds that sleep upside down are among the strange creatures discovered in the Malay peninsula, by Curlew Wells, an explorer. Another freak of this part of the world is a fish that flirts. It is the only swimming animal known to have a real wink.

Viviparous Fish

The bureau of fisheries says that black perch or the so-called "off fish" is viviparous. In other words, produces living young. Some viviparous fish are the top minnows, several species of the mudpuppy, such as flapping or producing seasons, otherwise. However, it is perfect safe to eat them.

Coroner's an Old Office

The word coroner is from the Latin "corona," a crown, and it implies that a coroner represents the sovereign in the performance of the duties of his office. There were coroners in 1225, but it is not known what their duties were. The office of coroner as it exists today was created by British act of parliament in 1276.

They Died Young.

"He's a wonderful doctor," exclaimed a brother member of the faculty. "He has saved more people from dying of old age than any medical man who has ever breathed!"—Tribune.
