

GROWERS CONFUSE TWO PESTS OF APPLE CROP
Marked infestations of apple maggots in the orchards of many sections of the state, and the danger of confusing the maggots with the codling moth in planning spray campaigns, have caused the issuance of a special warning by Prof. R. H. Pettit, head of the entomology department at M. S. C.
"Examination of orchards in some parts of the state has revealed the presence of the most serious infestation of apple maggot that has come to my attention," says professor Pettit. "It is impossible, in this connection, for growers to know the difference between the work of the maggot and of the codling moth. The codling moth spray will not more than partially control the apple maggot, and growers are likely to lose faith in the codling moth spray, if they are contending with apple maggot and do not know it."
Cutting the apples open and examining the grubs inside is said to be the easiest way of telling whether the work is that of the maggot or the moth. The maggot is about one-fourth inch long, white, and legless; while the larva of the codling moth is about three-fourths inch long, pink in color, and provided with six legs.
Proper spraying and destruction of the maggot infested apples as soon as they fall to the ground. In order to prevent the maggots from getting into the ground for their winter home, are means suggested for controlling the maggot. County agricultural agents of the state or the entomology department, M. S. C., East Lansing, are said to be ready to furnish detailed information on identifying and controlling the apple maggots.

NEED NEW TESTERS FOR STATE GROUPS AGAIN
With 108 cow testing associations now active in Michigan, there is again a shortage of trained testers to handle the work of the associations, according to A. C. Baltzer, extension specialist at M. S. C. Young men with agricultural training and a knowledge of dairying are being urged to get in touch with Mr. Baltzer in regard to the association work.
New associations just starting in the state include Cheboygan, Cass, and Muskegon counties. The cow test associations are organized to promote more efficient dairying throughout the state.

The Better Buick is a Man-sized Motor Car

The 3-Passenger Country Club Model

People appreciate a smart-driving, easily-handled, but full-sized, man-sized car. The Better Buick, for instance.

Each Buick model seats its capacity of full-grown people—in relaxed ease—without cramped legs or necks. Tall people, especially, enjoy its extra head-room and leg-room.

American men and women are above the average stature. And a smaller car than Buick is apt to be tight-fitting, low-ceilinged, crowded!

Drop in and try the ample, arm-chair comfort of a car that is right in size. Bring some of your six-footer friends. You will find another big reason why Buick is so widely considered a better motor car—another reason why there are a million and more enthusiastic Buick owners.

Or telephone, and we will send a Better Buick to your home or office for you to try.
