Putting the Best Foot Forward

The show window is your bid for public attention. On its attraction, its power to arrest the attention of the public, largely depends the success of your business.

Light is an essential factor in window display—abundant, skillfully disposed light. Modern window lighting has been reduced practically to a science. It is a business-getter.

It will stop before your window from 100% to 300% more people—more potential buyers—than the old-fashioned attractive lighting so commonly seen.

The advice of our lighting engineers is at
