

Varied Events Offered To State Vacationers

LANSING

Vacation travelers with an eye for the unusual—that something different which makes a trip memorable—will find it in Michigan in July.

Then the uncommon becomes commonplace in the Great Lake State, according to listings in the Michigan Calendar of Events.

For openers, visitors might plan to visit Mackinac Island July 3 for the annual stone-skipping contest. The fun begins as contestants vie for the 175-pound Little David Stone Trophy awarded to the person skipping a stone the most times off the choppy lake surface.

Frisbee fanatics should set out for Calumet in the Upper Peninsula where the International Frisbee Tournament will be staged July 4-5. The tournament features distance and accuracy.

curacy throws the first day and team competition or "Guts Frisbee," the second.

THESE EVENTS, along with a historical pageant, a steam rodeo, water caravals, numerous county fairs and more than 15 festivals are among some 70 community activities and events listed for July in the summer edition of the Michigan Calendar, compiled and distributed by the Michigan Tourist Council.

Indian culture, tribal dances, the arrival of the missionaries—all combine to bring history to life during the Baraga County Historical Pageant in L'Anse, July 24-26. Members of the local Ojibwa Tribe portray the Indian characters in this drama typifying the era when the Indian owned and inhabited the forests.

Authentic Indian pow-wows, log bicing, canoe races and a sunset boat parade on Keweenaw Bay also will be featured during the three-day event.

Steam spewing from giant boilers signals the coming of the parade of engines at the annual Steam Rodeo to be held July 31-Aug. 2 in Hastings. Hurling relics of a bygone era will engage in races, pulling contests, a tug-of-war and ramp climbing. Operated by both men and women, the antique engines also will be used to demonstrate thrashing, baling and done as it was done in the early days of mechanized farming.

Water-oriented sports enthusiasts can look forward to the Top-O-Michigan Aquathlon, Cheboygan, July 4-5; the Sunfish-Sailfish Regatta, Tawas Bay, July 11-12; the annual Troutarama, Baldwin, July 23-25; and Regatta Vpsilanti, Vpsilanti, July 24-26.

Art lovers and antique collectors have several Michigan shows to choose from, including those offered by the communities of St. Joseph, July 12; Grand Haven, July 17-19; Cadillac, July 18; Lapeer, July 18; Alpena, July 24-26; and Wyandotte, July 31-Aug. 2.

Other events in store for Michigan travelers in July include a Water Festival in White Cloud, July 8-11, the Upper Peninsula Soap Box Derby at Hancock, July 11-12, the Munger Potato Festival, Munger, July 23-26 and a Venetian Festival in Charlevoix, July 25-26.

The June-October edition of the Michigan Calendar of Events and other Michigan vacation planning information are available free from the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing 48926.

CHARLES V. FELLRATH, who resides at 32165 Hearshstone in Farmington, has been appointed a trust officer at Manufacturers Bank. Fellrath has been enrolled in a management training program of the bank since 1964. This year he received his bachelor's degree at Michigan State University. He has since earned a low degree at University of Detroit.

Tab Tazian State Fair Art Chief

An accomplished artist who is an instructor at Oakland Community College has been appointed art chairman for the Michigan State Fair, it was announced by E. J. Jeff Keirns, State Fair general manager.

He is Kephah Tazian, of 727 Purdy, Birmingham, who has a wide background in several art disciplines.

Tazian was born in Beirut, Lebanon, of American parents. After early schooling in that country, he came to the United States in 1950.

Tazian is making plans for an extensive fine arts exhibit at the State Fair, with both professional and amateur artists represented.

All media — sculptures, drawings, paintings, watercolors — will be included with works to suit almost all tastes. The art exhibit will be in the Community Arts Building at the State Fair, which runs from Friday, Aug. 28, through Monday, Sept. 7 (Labor Day).
