Suspended students must 'earn their way back'

A three-day suspension from school no longer means a few afternoons to watch soap operas, play video games or hang out around town.

"If a kid needs to be suspended, he needs to be punished. Sitting at home watching television is not solving the problem," said Walled Lake School Board member Bonnie Venzke last week when the board adopted an alternative suspension program.

The pilot program is designed to keep students in a normal school set-ting during suspension periods up to 10 days.

The project, which will require his-ing one staff person and one teacher's aide, is expected to cost approximately $10,210.

The program, which will be housed in a Walled Lake Central High School classroom, is scheduled to begin second semester, Superintendent Don Sheldon

"This way they stay away from their peers. They have to earn their way back into the classroom," Venrke said.

THE SUSPENDED student will be with a supervising teacher in a class-room for the entire school day. All ac-tivities, including lunch, will take place

Central High School was chosen be-cause of its central location and acces-ibility to all four secondary schools. Transportation to and from Central will be the responsibility of the sus-pended student and his/her parents or materian.

pended student and his/her parents or guardian.

The alternative-suspension teacher will provide the curriculum for stu-dents who are disciplined for longer to days. Students assigned for longer periods will be responsible for completing make-up work assigned by their regular classroom teachers. Students cannot be assigned to the alternative suspension program more than twice per semester, Sheldon said. Additional suspensions would be served outside the school setting.

THE PROJECT is an option open to parents. If they choose to use the program, building principals will be responsible for assigning suspended structure to the alternative program for a specific period of time. Principals also will be in charge of obtaining regular classroom work for students assigned to the classroom for more than three days.

chines quickly are becoming the wave of the future for businesses involved in telefanateding. Other uses are being found by governments and large groups.

Through the use of two tape decks and a computerized dialing system, the Prospector I can make up to 1,000 calls a day — playing a pre-recorded message and taping responses.

Phose numbers can be punched into the machine, or it can start from a given number and work upwards. The automatic caller will redial numbers which were busy or unanswered.

"Fitty years ago you had the Fuller hand going door-to-door. Nowadays, and the properties of the prope

Businesses, such as insurance companies which rely on phone contacts to sell their services, can benefit from such technology, be said.
"Doing bone surveys is a terrible job. People hang up on you — they are rude to you. It's a time-consuming job and is terribly boring.

"This can do the job of three people, and it won't change the message and doesn't tire out," be said.

Owl night is planned

"Whoooo" is the call heard on "Owl Night" at Independence Caks County Park from 7:30-9 pm. Priday, Feb. 24. Many Michigan owls nest in late win-ter, "stake out" their territory and may incubate their eggs this early in the SESSON.

During "Owl Night," a naturalist will guide hikers on a tour in search of the birds. Using tape recorded owl hoots, they will attempt to lure the owls out of their nests.

Livonia

filmstrip will be shown to explain the owl and its nesting habits.

The cost for "Owl Night" is the park entrance fee of $2.50 per vehicle for Oakland County residents and $4 for non-residents. Pre-registration is re-
