

Cellist to perform here

David Geringas, internationally acclaimed cellist, will make his only area appearance this year with the American Artistic Series at 3 p.m. Sunday at Kingswood Auditorium, 885 Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills. Geringas studied at the Moscow Conservatory with Mstislav Rostropovich before moving to West Germany in 1975. He made his American debut with the National Symphony Orchestra in 1976. Single tickets, $10, will be sold at the door as available.

Children invited to singalong

"The Living Folk" will present a "SingAlong" as part of the Lively Arts for Little Ones series for children at 11 a.m. Saturday at Andover High School, Bloomfield Hills, and at 2 p.m. in the Southfield Civic Center.

The Lansing based duo of Dave Ross and Frank Youngman have a repertoire of lively songs loved by children of all ages. They perform on a variety of instruments and use different styles.

The audience is involved by singing old and new favorites, by making up new verses to songs and by learning about instruments such as guitar, banjo, violin, mandolin, accordion and Irish tin whistle. The duo has appeared at the Greenfield Village Bluegrass Festival, the Meadow Brook Festival and in many Michigan communities over the past five years.

Tickets, $3.50 each, are available at the door. Group rates available. Andover High School is at 4200 Andover Road, Bloomfield Hills. The Southfield Civic Center is at 26000 Evergreen, Southfield.

Guitar concert announced

The fifth concert of the Kithara Classical Guitar Series will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at Birmingham Unitarian Church, 651 N. Woodward Bloomfield Hills.

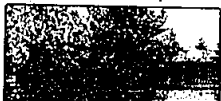

Lee Dyament will present a program which will focus on the Americas, from bossa nova to Broadway. Admission is $5.
