

Hovey, Hazen head for state mats

Lansing Eastern will be hopping Friday and Saturday as the state wrestling tournament unfolds.

Favored to take it all is Tempeance-Bedford, which corralled a regional crown last weekend at Trenton with 157 points against a host of area schools.

Wayne Memorial, which captured the Trenton District a week earlier, finished second with 60, followed by Westland John Glenn with 55 and Redford Catholic Central, the defending Class A state champion, with 48½. Livonia Bentley tied for 10th with 32. Plymouth Canton and Salem were 11th and 13th, respectively.

"About the only kid who didn't place for Bedford was the manager," cracked Glenn coach Tom Bukalew. "I was happy, win or lose, because we wrestled to our ability. We thought CC might creep up on us and they didn't, but we thought we could do the same to Wayne and we didn't."

Wayne had no individual champs, but will send five wrestlers to Lansing (the top four in each weight class qualify for the state meet).

The way it could be?

- The preliminary or JV game drew 3,000 fans. One player even dunked.
- All seats were reserved with 5,000 Tiger fans jamming into the gym.
- Players were taped by the team trainer, both at practice and for the game.
- The game was broadcast on both radio and TV.
- Practice and game uniforms are washed daily. The locker rooms are first class all the way.
- Student support is nearly 100 percent.
- Players have access to the gym year-round.

BEFORE MEETING Mount for a little shoot-around on Saturday afternoon, Bawulski talked with Jim Rosenstihl, who has coached Lebanon to over 400 victories in 20 years of coaching.

His hour-long session brought forth some other interesting things:

- Parents wouldn't dream of interfering with the program.
- What about kids who can't play defense? "We can work around that by hiding them somewhere," said Rosenstihl. "I want guys who can shoot. Do you know any college that recruits defensive players?" Schilling, who reveals as a passer, led Lebanon to victory that night, giving the Tigers a 15-3 record. Nominated for the McDonald's All-American team, Schilling selected Miami of Ohio over North Carolina and Iowa as his collegiate choice.

MOUNT AND HIS SON, Rich, an eighth-grader who is shooting in 19 points a game, met Bawulski and Schilling next day at the gym. They played two-on-two, one-on-one and shot free throws.

Bawulski first encountered Mount back in junior high when Tom Niemi (now the Bentley coach) took Mount and his friends to Michigan games in Ann Arbor. The more Bawulski watched Mount play, the more he was impressed.

"Rich Mount is just a really nice guy who still loves to play," Bawulski said. "He has a little hesitation in his shot, which is impossible to stop. He told me he plays more in the summer. He's still in pretty good shape, maybe five pounds over."

Bawulski and Mount each shot 50 free throws that day. Bawulski made 47 and lost.

"He hit a couple of them left-handed with his eyes closed," Bawulski said.

MOUNT then invited the two over to his home where the Michigan star stalked his memorabilia.

"He pulled out the ball that had 'Sensuous All-American' on it," he said. "That ball meant a lot to him."

Mount, who represents a shoe company, said he might drop by "to see what kind of ball they can play in Detroit."

After returning, Bawulski reflected on his trip.

"It's a whole different world," he said. "If I'm reincarnated, that's where I'm want grow up."

GLENN'S DAN GIBSON, meanwhile, took the 112-pound crown to raise his season record to 30-2. He also won the district and won Northwest Suburban League crown.

"I don't expect anything at the state — I can't predict," Bukalew said. "I don't know how good Dan is, but he's pretty good."

Joining Gibson at the state meet will be teammates Mike Rossi (119), Rick Gillies (105) and Vaughn West (145). CC qualified only two wrestlers, but Mike DiManno (155) and Joe Urso (167) won regional titles and are good bets to place high at the state meet. The two have a combined record to 115-4.

Bentley's Abe Yaffal won the region-at 119 with an 11-4 win over Rossi. He goes into the state meet with a 35-0-1 record. His brother Anwar, qualified at 112 and Mark Zenas was third at 185.

Canton's representatives are Todd Gattison (112) and Tim Collins (153). Both finished second at the regional.

"We went there expecting to get two out — and we did that," said Canton coach Dan Chreko. "I'm not disappointed at all."

SALEM is taking John Jeannotte, who placed second at 132, and Andy Ward, who was fourth at 145.

Other area wrestlers qualifying were Livonia Stevenson's Dan Jenkins, a surprise third at 119, and Farmington's Ab Hazen, despite a sore ankle, won two of four matches at 167 to place fourth. Another Farmington wrestler, Dave Hovey, qualified after finishing second at 98 pounds to Bedford's Dave Harper.

Bad luck mounts for Falcons

Every area volleyball team got the night off Monday thanks to the snow storm — everybody, that is, except Farmington.

Bad luck followed the Falcons and first-year coach Kim O'Neill all season: The bad luck came in three's Monday.

First, Falcon Jenny Lindbert got into a minor car accident on her way to Farmington High, where the team was assembling. She was shaken but not injured and got to school in time to catch the team bus.

Second, a reluctant bus driver drove the Falcons to Livonia Bentley despite the blizzard. Farmington had expected to find the match cancelled when they arrived at Bentley. No such luck.

Last, Falcon captain Jill Waterman, warming up before the match, twisted Saine was first and Southgate Aquilina earned second at the Class B regional meet at Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

State-bound from Redford Thurston are Jeff Newton, who was second at 145, and Marshall Weipert, who was third at 132. Clarenceville's representative was Joe Desjarlais, who was second at 158.

her ankle and had to be scratched from the lineup. It would have been her first appearance since injuring her finger two weeks ago.

Waterman's injury was later diagnosed as a fracture. She will be out for the remainder of the season.

"WHAT ELSE can possibly go wrong," said a distraught O'Neill. "She shouldn't have asked."

Bentley beat the Falcons in two games, 15-4, 16-14.

"We played horrible," said O'Neill. "There was no school last week (winter break) and I only had like two and three girls come to practice. I don't even want to tell you the score of the first game."

But the Falcons came back strong in game two. Lindbert, putting the fender-bender behind her, played outstanding.

"She played so good, I couldn't believe it," O'Neill said. "She was really hitting hard. Everytime she hit we either got a side out or we scored a point. But when she went to the back row, we couldn't score."

Farmington built a 13-10 lead in game two, but the Bulldogs came back to win the game and the match.

Laura Spence played well defensively for the Falcons as did junior Pam Faulkner.

The Falcons (7-10) will compete Saturday in the state Class A district tournament at Birmingham Groves. They will play the winner of the Farmington Harrison vs. Marian pre-district contest. North Farmington and Farmington Hills Our Lady of Mercy are also competing in the Groves district.
