

Health care pros invited to Mercy

Health care professionals and people interested in entering the health field are invited to explore educational opportunities and to investigate new career options at Mercy College of Detroit's "Career and Educational Options in Health Care," from 3-5:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 27.

Participants may attend one or more special interest sessions that will be offered continuously every half-hour throughout the afternoon. Topics for sessions include: "Health Services - Bachelor's Degree Completion Opportunities for Allied Health Professionals;" "Nursing Degree Completion: The BSN - A Continuation for the Registered Nurse;" "Allied Health Education: Teaching Techniques for Allied Health Professionals in a Unique New Master's Degree Program;" "Health Care Administration: The Challenge of Health Care Administration Career Pathways;" "Alcohol and Drug Abuse: Life Experience as a Tool in Substance Abuse Counseling;" and "Psychology and Substance Abuse: Earn a Master's Degree in Psychology to Counsel Substance Abusers."

Sessions will also be presented on the following Mercy College programs: medical technology, medical record science, physician assistant, anesthesia, dietetics, respiratory care and nursing.

Information will be available on career planning, financial aid and Mercy's Weekend College program. The information program will be held in the Conference Center of Mercy College of Detroit, 8200 W. Outer Drive at the Southfield Freeway, south of Seven Mile Road, in Detroit.

For more details and for a program brochure, call Mercy's admissions office at 592-6030.

Learning about Twain is seminar theme

High school students may not know much about Mark Twain, but after attending two special events at Madonna College on March 16 and 18, they will.

Before his performance as "Mark Twain on Tour," at 3 p.m. Sunday, in Madonna's Kresge Hall, professional actor Ken Richters has invited student journalists from area high schools to see his three-hour make-up transformation. Both a physical and mental change from a young man of 30 to the 70-year-old story-teller seem to take place at this time.

Ironically, Richters first took on his Twain characterization when his high school English teacher suggested he could earn extra credit by giving readings of the salty political and social observer's works.

When he dropped out of Yale several years later, Twain became his career. He has performed with great acclaim from coast to coast.

The watch of a railroad engineer was off by only four minutes, but that caused a great train accident in 1891. After that, railroad watches were inspected on a regular schedule to keep any error within 30 seconds a week.

Our watches would have no trouble meeting that standard. A fine watch is an excellent gift and we have them in all price categories.
