DIABETIC FEET

The feet of diabetics need special care. Their shoes must be carefully fitted to shoes that will prevent injury. Firm soles, smooth insoles and linings are required. There should be no rough seams in their stockings. For those whose feet are losing feeling, there are special insoles and deerskin uppers to guard against ulceration, even gangrene. Their doctors must be told of any blisters, sores or breaks in the skin. Protective shoes are carried in stock by HACK SHOES.
