when we don't give time to make a good teacher a sensational teacher. They need strokes and that's the job of an administrator." Overall, she called teachers "under-valued and under-appreciated and I don't mean moneywise. It's a hard job. Research shows teachers in a classroom of students make one decision a minute. That's a lot of demand."

On supporting teachers, she said: "I think we neglect our star teachers."

Accountant teaches at Oakland seminar

David C. May of Farmington Hills is on the faculty for the June 8-10 CPA Weekend offered through the Division of Continuing Education, Oakland University, near Rochester.

May, a CPA at Ernst & Whinney, will instruct the class "Reducing the Corporate Cost of Employee Benefits" on Saturday, June 9.

During the CPA Weekend, university faculty and professionals will instruct a variety of classes for CPAs to earn continuing professional education

Madonna College, Livonia. Sponsored by the department of gerontology at the college, it will focus on careers such as home health care, adult day and foster care, hospice, senior citizen housing administration, nutrition and recreation. Prospective students and the public are invited to attend. "With more senior citizens in this country than teenagers, a whole new service industry is growing to meet their needs," said Kathleen Needham, chairwoman of the Madonna gerontology department. Madonna College offers programs in gerontology leading to a bachelor or associate degree or a certificate of achievement. Areas of specialization include Activity Therapy and Aging and Mental Health. Students gain experience through field placements in the metropolitan Detroit area and work experience may be evaluated as equal to college credit. Madonna College is located at 1-95 and Levan Road in Livonia. It offers liberal arts and career programs to men and women in day, evening and weekend classes. For more information, call 591-5191.

Acting Mayor Jan Dolan suggested that people from Farmington also be included and invited to join in the committee, "if only as a liaison." Official possession of the property is not likely to happen before fall, City Manager Larry Savage said. The legislature will go into summer recess before they appropriate the $1.2-million Michigan Land Trust Fund (MLTF) grant earmarked to help buy the 42-million Spicer property.

Laureen Meldrum, a third-year student at Eastern Michigan University, was selected to be the national dean's list for 1983-84. Meldrum is a psychology major with a sociology minor and plans to practice clinical child psychology after completing graduate and doctoral work. She is the daughter of Sharon Meldrum of Farmington Hills and the granddaughter of Mildred Amundsen of Redford.
