The symbol of Farmington is the Fred Warner home. He was Michigan's governor at the turn of the century. The facility is now a public historical museum and will be open during the Festival.

Warner's home is city's pride

Old time hospitality will be featured at the Farmington Historical Museum, the Governor Fred M. Warner Mansion, 1-9 p.m., Friday, July 20, and 1-5 p.m., Saturday, July 21, at 33805 Grand River. Enjoy tours by museum guides, the nostalgic sounds of Knabe Player Grand Piano, turn-of-the-century selections performed by instrumental ensembles. Stroll through the Warner Gardens. Enjoy lemonade and cookies on the veranda. A $1 fee will be charged.
