Daytime local programming has begun on Channel 12. We shall provide our community with lunchtime entertainment of the most delightful kind. Therefore, if you have missed our shows because of conflicting evening schedules, tune in between noon and two and watch repeat programming.

The Metrovision participants of our SWOOC team were out in force for the Farmington Festival and Miss Farmington Scholarship Pageant. They provided production flexibility with a five-camera shoot to an aerial bucket truck — the very premise of community-access programming: production support based upon individual production needs.

Our communities have also added more equipment to the production packages. Each city government and both school districts and OOC shall receive on-location equipment this fall.

Our community van is scheduled to roll in mid-October. The van will be used for primarily large community events or productions requiring special effect needs.

It sounds like fun, but it is each of us who shall produce the shows that will keep the equipment out of the closet and on Channel 12.
