

Seminars slated on school return

A back-to-school seminar for parents will be at Tel-Twelve Mall on Wednesday at noon on Aug. 15, 22, 29 and Sept. 5 in the Tel-Twelve Mall Community Room.

The seminar series is geared toward working parents who are invited to bring their lunches and listen to the seminar series during the lunch hour from noon to 1 p.m.

The series will be conducted by Clare Jorgensen who has her bachelor's in education from Marygrove College and master's degree in early childhood development from Oakland University, as well as a Montessori Teaching Certificate.

A mother of three, Jorgensen taught for three years in the Detroit Public Schools and owned, directed and taught at the Oxford Montessori Center. Currently she is free-lancing in parent-education seminars.

The seminar series will cover the following topics:

• Aug. 15 — What you should know about day care for your child. How to find a quality day-care center. How to interview the day-care staff. What to observe in day-care centers. You know your child best and can insure his/her best care.

• Aug. 22 — How to improve your child's school experience. How to hold an effective parent-teacher conference. How to know what really goes on at school. How to help your child with homework.

• Aug. 29 — How to organize your day to insure quality time for your child. Books, games and activities to share with your children and deepen your relationship. Creativity to widen your family's horizons. Art, music and more. Writing that can stretch your child's development.

• Sept. 5 — How to prepare nutritious meals for your family to grow on. Breakfasts that energize your day. Lunches to pack and take. Dinners that are quick and delicious, the meal that everyone should share.

Admission to the seminars is free. Tel-Twelve Mall is at Telegraph and 12 Mile, Southfield. Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Student wins copy award

High school journalists from Mercy High School were award recipients during the third week of Ball State University's Journalism Workshops in Muncie, Ind.

Local award winners included Megan Phenehy for best copy. Yearbook and photography students from 13 states attended the third week of journalism workshops, which featured intensive study for high school journalists students.

More than 290 students received certificates of completion Friday in Ball State University's Cardinal Hall.

Dancers wanted for area workshop

The Detroit Dance Collective will hold a workshop called "Days for an August Dance" Aug. 13-20 at the Royal Oak campus of Oakland Community College, corners of Washington and Lincoln in downtown Royal Oak.

The workshop will feature evening classes in modern dance, jazz and ballet.

At the same time, the collective will hold auditions for company positions for the 1984-85 season, which includes extensive performance schedules and teaching positions.

Dancers must have advanced-level skills in modern dance and performing experience. Some background in ballet and jazz is helpful.

Paid positions are available for male and female dancers. An apprentice position also is available.

For more information, call 541-3030 days, or 546-4949 evenings.
