A PAIN IN THE NECK CAN MAKE YOU A PAIN IN THE NECK

If you're feeling irritable and argumentative, if you snap at someone and later wonder why, it could be caused by that slight pain you feel in your neck, it's the sign of a pinched nerve. Feelings of irritability, depression and being tired, even after a good night's sleep, can also be traced to low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). These two conditions are treated daily by chiropractic. Left untreated, you may suffer from headaches, shoulder pains, arm pains, and an overall lack of energy. If you are experiencing any of these symptoms, I urge you to have a chiropractic examination. To encourage you to do this (and to improve your disposition) please take advantage of this offer.

FREE EXAMINATION

Through This Saturday Only
This 30 minute examination (a $35.00 value) will include: a FREE orthopedic test, a FREE neurological test, and of course, a FREE private consultation with a doctor to discuss the results. There is absolutely no obligation on your part. For an appointment at your convenience, call

WHY USE ASPIRIN FOR JOINT PAIN?
At one time you may have experienced joint aches that required a physician's evaluation. Perhaps, on examination, he found no swollen joints, blood tests were unremarkable, and x-rays showed no evidence of joint damage. Then the doctor put you on aspirin. Likely you thought that by prescribing "only aspirin," he wasn't taking your joint pain seriously. I have been the doctor in such a scenario. As a Rheumatologist I am well acquainted with that fact that inflammation can exert a strong presence and at the same time be difficult to find. In such cases, aspirin is the drug of choice. Aspirin is useful because it is capable of stopping the first step in the chemical cascade that leads to joint irritation. Aspirin is safe when compared to alternative medications, and furthermore, aspirin dosage can be tailored to meet the needs and tolerance of each individual patient. If evaluation of your joint problem fails to uncover its cause, and your doctor, "just orders aspirin," do not be distressed. You are really receiving the best therapy possible.

Something To Think About
BOB ROCK
DIRECTOR
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AS COUNSELOR
Although the funeral director may not consider himself a trained counselor, and may not have his doctorate in psychology, his special experience and role give him certain insights which he cannot help but use in his professional role. Any sensitive funeral director will soon acquire a knowledge about personal, practical, and emotional bereavement problems which can be of value to those he serves. Using his sensitivity, the funeral director can successfully identify such problems and then help or refer. In this way, he can be of use in his community as part of the caring team and more helpful to each family he serves. Today, the funeral director is not restricted to only "set-piece" contacts with families. He should be counseling them during prearrangements and he should be available for post-funeral visits to the family in addition to his regular, and more traditional at-need duties.
