

6-building complex set for construction

The Arboretum Properties of Farmington Hills recently broke ground for an office park.

The development, budgeted at $70 million and covering more than 50 acres of land, will provide more than one-million square feet of leasable office space.

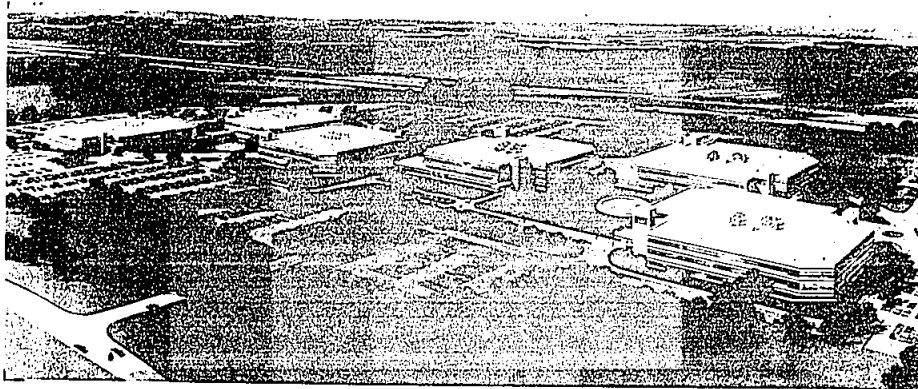

The plan calls for six three-story office buildings.

"This is an office park in the true sense of the word," said developer Bob Kutzman. "We are building with the idea of openness and low density. Our philosophy is to build with a balance between indoor and outdoor space."

With that concept in mind, the Arboretum Office Park will have atriums in every building, connecting glassed-in walkways and interior flexible space planning to accommodate companies of all sizes. At its completion, Arboretum will be the largest full-service office park in Michigan.

The Arboretum Office Park is on 12 Mile between Farmington and Drake roads, within access of and visible from I-696.

It is being developed by Peter Burton, Robert Kutzman and Ronald Hughes.

This rendering soon will be reality along the 12 Mile corridor between Drake and Farmington roads. The complex will take up 50 acres.

'a totally different kind of store'

We're a quality fashion store selling junior and misses size clothes at money-saving prices — better labels in dresses, sportswear, coats and accessories at super discounts. We guarantee that all our clothes are at least 20%-60% less (and in some cases even further reduced) than the regular selling price of the same fashions in leading department and specialty stores. It's a most comprehensive collection. Some of the styles do not have labels, some are slightly irregular (and clearly marked so) and a few may arrive after reaching the 5th Avenue shops; but we promise you that you will save money.
