Men's, women's soccer teams post strong finish

Van Dimitriou's first season as Schoolcraft College's men's soccer coach won't be trimmed with an Eastern Conference championship, but it's been anything but a failure. The Ocelots could have folded when their record fell to 2-1 with two very tough games remaining against conference front-runners Macomb and Lakeland. Instead, they clawed their way to a win and a tie and, combined with a victory over Delta and a non-conference loss to Toledo, Schoolcraft finished the season with three wins and a tie.

That finishing flurry allowed the Ocelots to post a 4-3 Eastern Conference mark and a 6-5 overall standard.

"The last three games have been very similar," said Dimitriou. "It's been a total team effort."

THEIR COMBATIVENESS was evident Saturday at Lakeland, when they came from two goals down to tie Lakeland 3-3 on the Ohio school's home field.

Lakeland scored twice early in the first half but Schoolcraft got one back before halftime on a goal by Hashim Al-dabal. Al-dabal scored again in the second half to tie it, but Lakeland re-captured the lead and held it until the final minute.

David Dickson's goal knotted it at 3-3, and it remained that way through two 10-minute overtime periods.

Last Wednesday (Oct. 24), Macomb

Schoolcraft sports

visited Schoolcraft sporting an unbeaten Eastern Conference slate. The Monarchs didn't leave that way, as Al-dabal drilled home his first goal of the season in overtime for a 3-1 Schoolcraft victory.

MANNY MURUA got the first Ocelot goal just before halftime, but Murua was forced from the game after aggravating a leg injury, that has hampered him for six games. Macomb tied it with just three minutes left, getting the ball past goalie Brian O'Shea on a header from short range.

O'Shea was outstanding for Schoolcraft, according to Dimitriou. "It was his best effort of the year," said the Ocelot coach. "He kept us in the game."

On Monday, Schoolcraft blanked Toledo 2-0 at Toledo. O'Shea's net play was impressive again. Tim McFarland and Dickson supplied the goals.

Just where Schoolcraft will finish in the Eastern Conference remains to be determined. Protests concerning some teams' players eligibility are being examined.

NATIONALS NEXT

Saturday's final game of the regular schedule was a proper indicator of how Schoolcraft's women's soccer team's season went. Sue Ferguson did most of the scoring and there was a lot of shifting of personnel, but in the end the Ocelots prevailed.

This time the score was 1-0 over visiting Ferris State. Ferguson, the Farmington Hills scoring machine, hit four times to increase her season total to 34. Cindy Cable got the other Schoolcraft goal and Amy McClellan added two assists. Goalkeeper Jenny Gans made just one save in the shutout.

The win gave Schoolcraft a 14-3-3 record in its first-ever varsity season. Ocelot coach Ed Dudek moved the season of people around during the game, but it was more for safety's sake than anything else. The team has been beset by injuries throughout the season, forcing the coach to juggle the lineup constantly.

"The key is to remain healthy and get ready for nationals," Dudek said. "That's three weeks away, so Schoolcraft will have its chance to rest up. While several other teams are battling for national titles and the right to advance to the NCAA tournament, the Ocelots have already had a berth because they are the only community college with women's soccer in the region."
