

Woman uses reason, not emotion

Dear Mrs. Green:

The four of us have a common profession and I am wondering if our handwriting would reveal what it is even though we have quite different personalities and, on the surface, different handwriting styles. I am 55 years old and am right handed. I would think our common profession might show itself in our handwriting and I anxiously await your response.

Thank you,
H.T.
Livonia

First of all, I want to thank each of you for your letters. I regret to say that I was not able to pick your common profession from the four handwritings. Hope you will write again to tell me as I am extremely curious to know what you four women do. Spaco does not allow me to analyze all four so I randomly selected this letter for the column.

Dear H.T.:

Pulse comes quickly to my mind as I check the vertical slant of your legible handwriting. Decisions are predicated more on reason than feeling. You are a lady who does not freely show your emotions.

Flexible, charming and pleasant are a few appropriate adjectives that describe you. And you are also sensitive to the needs of others. You are definitely a lover, not a fighter! To avoid emotional unpleasantness you often withdraw or do not commit yourself with direct answers or direct actions.

Green

The four of us have a common profession and I am wondering if our handwriting would reveal what it is even though we

Your extremely heavy pressure tells me you are driven to accomplish what you set out to do. You do not waste time. You dislike delays and can be persistent and impatient for results. But this does not happen without some stress which probably localizes in the area of your stomach. Because of your outward composure, few people probably are aware of the tension you may be inwardly experiencing.

Marginal spacing suggests some concern or apprehension about the future or what it holds.

Female influence from your formative years was more prominent than the male influence.

If you have a question about your handwriting, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, in care of this newspaper. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper writing in the first person singular. Age and handedness are helpful. Feedback is always welcome.

CPA weekend at Oakland U

Deadline reservation is Tuesday for Oakland University's fall Continuing Education Accountants weekend, offered Nov. 9-11 by the division of continuing education.

How Michigan business is affected by the latest tax law changes will be covered in a luncheon program at 11:30 a.m. Saturday. Luncheon reservation is $7.50.

Registration information is available from the OU continuing education office at 377-3120 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays.

Up to 21 continuing professional educational hours may be obtained during the weekend of classes taught by both professionals and OU faculty.

Richard Ingersoll just took a big step.

Because Richard was diagnosed at age one as having cerebral palsy, some people thought he might never take a step at all. Or even speak.

But your gift to the United Foundation helps make it possible for Richard to receive the therapy and counseling he needs at the Detroit Institute for Children. The result is that Richard has not only begun to walk by himself. He's also learning to make himself understood.

Now we'd like you to take a step, too.

Thousands of individuals in communities all over Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties need your support: the blind, the abused, the retarded, the unemployed. People with alcohol and drug dependency problems. And many others who depend on the 130 Torch Drive supported agencies for help.

Maybe you haven't been asked to give this year. That's why we've supplied the coupon. Please take time to fill it out and make a contribution. And, please, make it generous. Because the more you give the more good it can do. If you have already contributed, thank you very much.

There are two methods of contributing:

☐ Please bill me for $_____ as my contribution to the 1984 Torch Drive.

☐ Enclosed is my check for $_____.
