Liquor license awarded by Hills

"The only change of tune is that you gave it to us once. Give it to us again," Bufalino said.

Bufalino warned council that if it approved a resort license for Capraro's, it could be denied by the LCC because the proposed restaurant no longer has an application with the state commission.

Bufalino added that the LCC would be "prejudiced" in its decision about the resort license because council took back the Class C license originally awarded to Capraro's.

Seemingly unmoved by Bufalino's comments, council followed its initial sentiments of a month earlier and took an unsuccessful 4-3 vote to award the license to Ernie's Deli. Council members Jan Dolan, Donn Wolf and Terry Sever favored the deli.

"Once again I am going to vote against this motion," said Councilwoman Joan Dudley, claiming Ernie's did not meet council's criteria for a license.

The deli's amount of financial investment, location and character of the restaurant does not compare with other proposals, particularly Etkin Equities' planned restaurant, Dudley said.

REFERRING to council's sentiments toward Ernie's, Dudley said a liquor license back the Class C license originally awarded to Capraro's.

Seemingly unmoved by Bufalino's comments, council followed its initial sentiments of a month earlier and took an unsuccessful 4-3 vote to award the license to Ernie's Deli. Council members Jan Dolan, Donn Wolf and Terry Sever favored the deli.

Despite her preference for Etkin Equities, Dudley said, "I have a problem of conscience with Capraro's."

Although Dudley said that taking back the license from Capraro's may not have been unjust, it was unwise.

Rather than considering Capraro's again for the Class C license, council later unanimously approved a 12-month resort license for the proposed restaurant.

Goodfellows gear up wish to receive the Goodfellows' baskets.

The baskets, to be distributed on Dec. 23, will contain food for the entire family and a toy box packed according to age and sex of the children.

Senior citizens receiving baskets are researched "a little more thoroughly" than families, says Tupper, in order to cater to individual needs.

"We pack the boxes very personal for them (seniors), to give them whatever they need, be it stationary, or hand or body lotion," he says.

THE GOODFELLOWS work on a volunteer basis, and according to Tupper there is no shortage of Santa's in the Farmington area.

"We have always been very lucky in that area, people have been very generous in donating their time," he says.

Persons wishing to donate their time, money, unwrapped toys, dresses or shirts are asked to call the Farmington-Farmington Hills Chamber of Commerce at 474-0855.
