Check out recipient before donating

Solicitations for charities are numerous at this time of the year. The Better Business Bureau/Detroit and Eastern Michigan advises that you give — but give wisely.

If the charitable appeal is in the mail, make sure there is a clear statement of purpose and need. Is it easily understood and not disguised as a bill or invoice? Is your gift tax deductible or is the organization tax exempt?

Does it make clear that you are under no obligation to pay for or return any unordered merchandise such as key rings, return address labels, etc.?

If the appeal is by telephone, does the caller immediately provide identification including the name of the organization and the purpose of the call? Will the solicitor provide more details on the charitable organization?

Is the solicitor well informed and willing to answer reasonable questions? Is the solicitor willing to put the request in writing?

If the charitable appeal is in person — either at your home or on the street corner — does the solicitor have an ID badge including the name and address of the benefiting organization? Is the solicitor a volunteer, an employee of the benefiting group or working for a promoter?

If the solicitor is selling merchandise such as candy, is it made clear how much goes to the sponsoring organization? Will the solicitor accept a check made out to the individual? Finally, can the solicitor provide a source for further information?

The BBB has a pamphlet called "Tips on Charitable Giving" that further explains what to look for and is available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Better Business Bureau/Detroit and Eastern Michigan, 150 Michigan Ave., Detroit 48226.
