Health day planned

"For a healthier you" is the theme of Women's Health Day Wednesday, March 27 in The Community House, 380 South Bates Street, Birmingham.

The day, co-sponsored by William Beaumont Hospital and The Community House, will run from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and will include a selection of workshops covering a dozen topics on physical and mental health. The day is priced in several segments. For example, one workshop is $10 and the entire day is $32.

Participants may choose to come for one or several workshops or for the whole day, which includes four sections of workshops, lunch, dinner, and the keynote address on "Women's Health Problems in the 80's."

The keynote speaker is Nancy E. Reame, associate professor, School of Nursing, Parent-Child Nursing, University of Michigan. Reame, who has recently published a book on menopause and is a leading authority on toxic shock syndrome, will discuss social implications of women's health problems, as well as the technical aspects, such as new treatments.

Inquiries will be taken by calling The Community House, 644-3532.
