

JUDGE VISITS LIVONIA—Wayne County Probate Judge George N. Bashara, Jr. (center) shares joke and food with Stan Telman, (right) executive director of Livonia Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Ed McNamara at Livonia's third annual ox roast sponsored by 19th District Democratic Party of Wayne County. Judge Bashara, who was Michigan's youngest judge when appointed last year to the probate bench by Gov. Milliken, won automatic nomination in the primary election and will seek re-election at the polls in November.

Local UAW Unions Are Also Making Demands

Seven United Auto Workers (UAW) union locals in Observance are presenting local demands to area plants this week in a little-noticed adjunct to the Big Three auto industry talks.

The daily working conditions of some 53,000 area workers will be affected by the negotiations of the seven locals with their respective plant officials.

These individual plants could be struck if there's an impasse in the local bargaining, even if the master UAW contract for more than one million workers nationwide receives ratification.

WASH UP TIME, grievance procedures and layoff policy are typical local issues.

In contrast to the high-powered position statements, data, bargainers' profiles and other materials slickly published by both sides prior to, during and after the master contract bargaining, local demands are couched in near secrecy.

Officials of two area UAW locals told Observer Newspapers Thursday, "They're being presented now but, I'm sorry, there's no clearance given to release any information." Robert Kurtis, president of amalgamated Local 163 said such release might be forthcoming in about 10 days.

Local 163 represents workers of General Motors' Detroit Diesel Engine Division on Telegraph Road straddling Detroit and Redford Township and other union members in several plants. Total membership of the local is about 7,000.

OTHER AREA UAW LOCALS ARE:

Local 157, Inkster, representing Ford Motor Co. and other employees, 9,000 members. Joseph Danz-president.

Local 174, Detroit, representing Fisher Body plants of Livonia and Fort Street and 68 other plants, 20,000 active employees and 5,000 retirees, Philip Terrano-president.

Local 282, Detroit, representing Chevrolet Spring and Bumper of Livonia and other plants, 3,000 active and 1,500 retired members. Fay B. Gentry-president.

Local 800, Wayne, representing Michigan Truck Co. and Ford Wayne Assembly, 5,200 members, Jim Coleman-president.

Local 845, Plymouth, representing Sheldon Road Ford Heating and Air Conditioning, 1,150 employees. Ed Perry-president.

Local 182, Livonia, representing Ford Motor Co. Plymouth Road plant, 6,000 employees, Robert Little-president.

3 1/2 Billion Pep Pills Sold In '70

Last year Americans purchased 3 1/2 billion pep pills and almost as many tranquilizers, according to Samuel B. Gould, Chancellor, State University of New York.

In an Albany Medical College commencement address he said, "We seem increasingly to prefer the self-imposed chemical pollution of our bodies to the really tough confrontation of our minds with our huge social problems."

With growing hypocrisy we preach the urgent need for greater intelligence, concern for others and sustained social action; and then we cop out with a trip into personal gratification or self-pity, replacing constructive efforts with freak-outs, rationality with sensations...
