Salute the MHSAA

Considering the teams that played for the championship the last three years were from Livonia, Northville and Troy. It seems silly to travel all the way to Flint for the final.

AND, LASTLY, the MHSAA's most intriguing change: allowing basketball teams and leagues, by mutual consent, to put in use a three-point field goal similar to that used in pro basketball. Any shot made from beyond a 19-foot arc would count as three points.

I like it, although I have a feeling a lot of coaches won't agree. It gives the little guy with a good outside shot a bit more weight. All things considered, a productive meeting for the MHSAA. Congratulations, one and all.
