

Tax reform stand delayed

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Farmington City Council members agree it's a bit too early to take a stand on the proposed elimination of the deduction for state and local taxes.

League resolution on the issue. Following the discussion, council members agreed to table the item.

Board approves fix-up list

The total amount of expenditures for the three schools comes to $347,437.

Other capital needs expenditures include: $21,000 for high school and middle school scoreboards, $32,000 for four maintenance vehicles and $22,500 for carpeting for the central office.

CAPITAL NEEDS expenditures over $3,000 must be approved by the school board members before the improvements or additions may be purchased, Howell said.

There were some unapproved capital needs requests for 1985-86 such as tile for Beechview, new building playground equipment for William Grace Elementary and two computers for Harrison High.

Many of these can be purchased by each building from their individual building funds," Howell said.

The capital needs committee was unable to accommodate funding of six major requests including paving the East Middle School parking lot, refitting the paneling at Gill School, demolishing the smoke stack at Farmington High and installing air conditioning at William Grace Elementary.

These items, which total $176,000, will be funded from the capital improvement account.

Capital improvements are more construction items," said Howell.

The capital improvement account is funded with money derived from the sale of school properties. Money acquired from the sale of school properties cannot be put back into the general fund of the budget, Howell said. It can, however, be used to construct or improve current structures.

mittee then goes through the requests, establishing priorities which are reported to the board.

The total $975,000 to be spent includes money for specific items to be purchased and repaired in the district schools.

In addition to those capital needs items, an amount was given to each school for building needs to be determined by each school's administrators. Each elementary school will receive $4,000, each middle school $3,800 and each high school $4,000.

Specific capital needs items approved last week by school board members include cafeteria tables, doors and door frames, playground equipment and sidewalks for elementary schools.

The total amount of expenditures for the 11 elementary schools comes to $125,456.

The four middle schools will receive a total of $43,987 to pay for such items as lockers, tables and a hot water heater.

District high schools will get such items as a language lab, doors, type-
