

Reagan eyes jurist for appellate court

"If they act favorably, the nomination goes to the floor of the Senate as a whole for approval," said Ryan.

APPOINTED TO Michigan's highest court in 1975 by Gov. William Milliken, Ryan first learned of his candidacy last January "when a number of names were submitted to the President. The Justice Department did a screening in February, March and April, said Ryan, who with others from Michigan was asked to travel to Washington to be interviewed by five members of the department.

The Justice Department conducted a "very quiet, confidential investigation among a number of Michigan lawyers and judges and other people. Ultimately, in about the middle of May, the attorney general recommended my name to the President," said Ryan. If all goes smoothly, Ryan anticipates assuming his seat sometime next month. Though he'll be required to sit for two-week periods eight times a year in the Cincinnati, Ohio, court, Ryan plans to commute, not move.

"My roots in Redford are too deep," he said.

RYAN WELCOMES his new challenge.

"I guess the most significant difference (between the Supreme Court and the appeals court) is that the court of appeals does have jurisdiction of all federal constitutional questions which arise both in state and federal courts. "The principle aspect of the jurisdiction of the court will be its concern with federal constitutional issues, both civil and criminal. If it is for right or for wrong, the federal judiciary has become a tremendously important influence in our lives."

"It seems the great issues which touch all of us — our businesses, families and properties — seem to find their way into federal constitutional decisions. That's why the court's work is so important and so interesting."

Ryan is founder and supervising justice of the Michigan Judicial Institute, which provides continuing education for the Michigan judiciary. From 1981-82, he supervised the reorganization of the Wayne County court system.

RYAN SERVED as a Wayne County Circuit judge 1968-76 and as a Redford Township justice of the peace 1963-66. Currently, Ryan teaches law at the University of Detroit School of Law and Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing. He has lectured at the Reno, Nev., National Judicial College, at the American Academy of Judicial Education in Washington, D.C., and in 17 states and territories.

He is the commanding officer of the U.S. Navy's only reserve trial judiciary unit and state director of community activities for the Knights of Columbus.

A member of the Thomas M. Cooley Law School board of directors, Ryan holds honorary law degrees from Madonna College in Livonia and the Detroit College of Law. He and his wife Mary are the parents of Daniel, James, Colleen and Kathleen.

Road work

Improvement project is on hold

By Joanne Maliszewski

Long-planned improvements along Orchard Lake and Middlebelt roads have been put on hold until next spring. The total estimated cost for these improvements is $216,000.

But Farmington Hills officials are getting a head start by asking the Oakland County Board of Commissioners to increase county financial participation in certain road improvements.

County commissioners are being asked to double or triple their 1985 $555,000 commitment to the tri-party road program, City Manager William Costick said.

A tri-party road agreement calls for financing improvements on county roads within an incorporated area by sharing the cost between Oakland County, the Oakland County Road Commission and the local government.

Farmington Hills request comes on the heels of a decision to abandon recent unexpectedly high bids for improvements in the city.

IN ABANDONING the bids, county road commissioners have assured city officials the improvements would be redesigned to accommodate a third lane for left turn between Oakland Community College and 11 Mile Road, Costick indicated in a report to council.

"The only hedge to the council commissioners' commitment is their lack of ability to commit general county funds in the event the (Oakland County) board of commissioners were to not budget funds for 'tri-party' road improvements," Costick said.

Without the redesign of the project, improvements would include the addition of a passing lane on Middlebelt at Killarney, widening of Orchard Lake at the community college entrance, and resurfacing of Orchard Lake from the college to 11 Mile.

OTHER MAJOR road improvements currently in progress in Farmington Hills include:

• Widening to five lanes and resurfacing of the 11 Mile and Orchard Lake intersection. Expected to be completed this fall.

• Widening to five lanes and resurfacing of 12 Mile, west of Farmington Road to east of Orchard Lake Road. Expected to be completed this fall. Cleanup and sidewalks are expected to be finished by spring 1986.

• Widening of 12 Mile and Hagerly. Completion expected this fall.

• Installation of passing lane on the south side of 14 Mile by Inkster. Completion expected this fall.

• Paving of Hathaway, north of Grand River and Metroview, north of Eight Mile. Completion on both expected this fall.
