(Center photo) Glorie Henry (left), Germaine Goodman and Jeffrey Chastang are cast in the premiere of Van H. Washington's "I Solemnly Swear," one of two plays being presented under the title "In My Father's House," opening Thursday, Nov. 7, and continuing through Sunday, Nov. 17, at the Studio Theatre in the General Lectures Hall.

(Right) Cheryl Williams is Kate and George Comekey is Petruchio in Shakespeare's classic battle of the sexes, "The Taming of the Shrew," continuing through Thursday, Dec. 5. For ticket information on WSU theater, call the box office at 577-2972.

second runs Hugh Gallagher

"Rollerball" (1975), 1:30 a.m. Saturday night, on Ch. 50.
James Caan plays an athlete of the future. In a world where war has been replaced by violent spectator sports, Caan gets into trouble when he asks too many questions. This is a film that will interest sci-fi fans but leave them wishing there were more detail and a less predictable outcome.

Rating: $2.75.

"Young Frankenstein" (1974), 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31 on Ch. 50.
Mel Brooks is in full stride in this terrific spoof of the original James Whale film. Everything from the black and white photography to Gene Wilder's manic performance to work here. It is one of the few completely satisfying Brooks efforts. For Halloween it's more a hoot than a howl.

Rating: $3.40.

"The Yakuza" (1975), 12:30 a.m. Tuesday night on Ch. 7.
This is a gangster movie with a twist. The gangsters are Japanese. Robert Mitchum plays a man with a past who tries to save a friend's daughter who has been kidnapped in Japan. This Sidney Pollack film gives an intriguing look at the underside of life in the Orient. It is a high-class martial arts movie with a good performance by the laconic, sad-eyed Mitchum.

Rating: $3.

Ensemble's program highlights clarinet

The Lyric Chamber Ensemble (LCE) continues its 1985-86 concert season with "Clarinet and Friends" 8:30 p.m. Sun., clarinet with violin and piano, including the premiere performance of the Eleanor Ford House, 1100 Lakeshore Drive, a new work commissioned by the LCE. The program includes Milhand's Suite for Clarinet, Violin and Piano, Bernstein's Clarinet Sonata, Debussy's "La Plus Que Lente," and all three Baroque Contrasts. Detroit Symphony Orchestra musicians Douglas Cornelison, clarinet, and Stacey Woolley, violin, will perform with pianist Fedora Horowitz.

LCE's artistic director, in addition, composer Stanley Hollingsworth will be at the piano for his composition, "Reflections and Diversions for Clarinet and Piano." General admission tickets are $8, $6 for senior citizens and students. Group rates are available. Visa and MasterCard are accepted for phone orders. Ticket prices include an informal tour of the Ford House and an afterglow wine and cheese reception. Call 557-1111 for tickets and information.

Lyric Chamber Ensemble concerts are made possible in part through grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Michigan Council for the Arts, in association with WQRS-FM 105.

OCC slates art competition

Entries for the fifth Helen DeRoy Art Competition at Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge Campus will be accepted between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Nov. 4, at Wallace Smith Performing Arts Center. Painter Zuber Kachadorian will be the judge for the competition which offers $1,500 in prizes with a top award of $800.

For information, call Kephram Tazian of the Orchard Ridge art faculty, 471-7796. The campus is at 12 Mile and Orchard Lake, Farmington Hills.

Quartet playing B's

It'll be an evening of composers in B when the Chamber Music Society of Detroit presents the Tokyo String Quartet at 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 26, in Orchestra Hall, 3711 Woodward, Detroit. The evening's program includes Beethoven's Quartet in F, Opus 18 No. 1; Bartok's Quartet No. 2, Opus 17; and Brahms' Quartet in C Minor, Opus 91, No. 1.

The group performs on matched Amatis, a 17th century family of instruments.

Tickets are $18, $16 and $13. For tickets, call Orchestra Hall at 533-3700. The Chamber Music Society of Detroit is presented in cooperation with WQRS-FM.
