

Hawks get win; North survives

According to Farmington Harrison volleyball coach Ron Shortt, there were no winners in Wednesday night's match with Plymouth Canton.

The scoreboard read that Harrison won 15-13, 15-11. Shortt wasn't buying it.

"It was ridiculous," Shortt said. "We've been playing just below the level of the teams we play. Luckily we came out on top Wednesday."

Canton could feel a bit better about things, even though it lost the match.

"We've been playing a lot better lately," said senior team captain Diana Knickerbocker. "We just haven't got around to winning yet."

Knickerbocker played a strong game in the back row for the Hawks. Hitter Laura Darby and setter Kelly Moeller also teamed up to control the net on occasion.

Canton is 0-7 in the Western Lakes, 1-9 overall.

Jennifer Hughes and Diana Raddatz played well all around for the Hawks.

"Jenny has been playing real good all season, and Diana has been coming on strong," Shortt said. "But the others have been on and off. You can't win with two players."

Harrison is 2-5 in the conference, 10-9 overall.

NORTH FARMINGTON snuck by Plymouth Salem Wednesday, 15-12, 15-7, in another Western Lakes match.

The Rocks wasted a sterling performance by hitter Leanne Becker. Becker was successful on 19 spikes in two games; 11 of them were aces.

"We played just good enough — to lose," Salem coach Betty Smith said. "In our first match we lost to Walled Lake Western; they played well and we played well, but not well enough to win. Same thing Wednesday. If, on a scale of one to 10, North was a five, we were a four."

volleyball

Lisa Madis set well for the Rocks. Karen Marcinlak (defense) and Jane Kiara (front row) also played strong matches for Salem.

Nancy Cotran played superbly in both the front row and back row for North. Sandy Spahn also hit well for North, particularly in the second game.

Salem is 3-4 in the Western Lakes, 3-9 overall. North is 2-5 in the league, 9-9 overall.

LIVONIA STEVENSON made easy work of Farmington Wednesday, winning 15-2, 15-4.

"It was just a matter of serving and letting Farmington try and get it back," said Stevenson coach Lee Cagle. The Spartans are 5-2 in the conference, 6-3 overall.

Salem beat Farmington Monday, 15-7, 15-9. The Falcons are 1-6 in the league.

FARMINGTON HILLS Lutheran Northwest improved its record to 10-2 with victories against Hamtramck Immaculate Conception and Huron Valley Lutheran last week.

On Tuesday, Northwest beat Immaculate Conception in a five-game match, 15-8, 15-3, 8-15, 12-15, 15-12.

Becky Wenzel (20 kill spikes) and Chrissy Koels (16 service points) were the standouts.

On Thursday, the team took two matches from Huron Valley, 15-6, 15-3; 11-15, 15-10, 15-11.

Karen Coles was perfect on her sets and Deb Maul was productive at the net.

Diana Raddatz is one of two Harrison spikers singled out by coach Ron Shortt as playing consistently well for the team.
