

1970 Deer Hunting Format

Here's '70 Deer Hunting Areas

As this map shows, action will be limited to bucks-only hunting in the upper peninsula during Michigan's 1970 firearm deer season set for Nov. 15-30.

That major change honors a legislative resolution which called for a moratorium on shooting antlerless deer with firearms above the Straits this fall.

Licensed archers may still take antlerless deer in that part of the state during the 1970 bow and arrow season. In other notable changes from last year, antlerless deer-hunting permit quotas have been cut 44 per cent for the northern lower peninsula and increased slightly for southern Michigan.

THE SHARP permit restriction for northern lower Michigan is designed to promote a buildup of whitetails in those areas where there are good signs that the animals have been balanced with their range as the result of past antlerless harvests and commercial timber cuttings.

That region's total permit quota for 1970 is about 69,000 as against 119,000 last season.

For southern Michigan, this year's permit level has been raised to 19,795, about 1,000 more than in 1969, in a continuing effort to ease problems of rising crop damage and car-deer collisions.

HUNTERS PLANNING to seek this season's antlerless deer permits may do so as soon as application forms and 1970 firearm deer licenses reach local dealers this month.

Instructions for filling out applications appear in copies of Michigan's 1970 deer and bear hunting rules which hunters may pick up when they buy their licenses, Sept. 30 is again the deadline for post-marking permit applications.

Sportsmen are not required to apply through the mail for permits covering area 27, the Beaver Islands Wildlife Refuge. Antlerless deer hunting is permitted in that area this season, according to the Michigan Dept. of Natural Resources.

'Older Americans' Asked To Speak At Forums

A call has been sounded to all senior citizens in Observerland, to join next week in a state-wide planning program that will lead to a White House Conference on Aging in 1971.

Fifty-one "community forums" have been scheduled in all sections, and all those 65 years of age, or older, along with those who are making retirement plans, are invited to attend.

Sponsor is the Commission on Aging, a state agency. There are four conferences near the Observerland area:

THESE CONFERENCES get underway on Monday with a meeting at Local 83, Dairyman's Hall on Second Avenue in Detroit, starting at 10 a.m. This will be followed by another forum on Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the City-County Building in Detroit. Then, at 2 p.m., the scene shifts to Inkster where a forum is to be conducted at Twin Towers in Inkster.

On Wednesday the Forum is scheduled at 1 p.m. at Pontiac City Hall, and the area activity closes with a session at the Detroit Federation of Musicians Hall, 19161 Schaefer Road in Detroit, at 10 a.m. Friday.

THESE FORUMS have been scheduled to give each of Observerland's older residents an opportunity to speak out on the quality of his life.

As part of the program's overall theme "Older Americans Speak to the Nation," the senior citizens are being encouraged to speak out on their needs, concerns, and possible solutions, at a grass roots level.

The older citizens who attend any of the forums will be asked to complete questionnaires relating to the areas of income, nutrition, health, housing, transportation, employment and retirement, education, recreation and activities and spiritual well-being.

Each person will be asked to answer the questions on the basis of his or her own experiences.

This information will be analyzed by task forces composed of experts in the various fields affecting the aging and will be used in preparing resolutions and recommendations for the White House Conference in 1971.

THE GOALS are to develop:

1. A more realistic and comprehensive national policy for older Americans.
2. An aroused public awareness in aid of concern for older people's needs, and for the development of their potential as a national resource.
3. Better methods of developing and sustaining national, state and local efforts - both public and private - in the field of aging.
4. National action to strengthen the means of older people for independent living and the improved use of their talents, and to lessen their isolation and increase their participation in family and community life.

This will be a great opportunity for the older citizens to speak out - and be heard.

For the 550,000 Michigan families planning to take color tours this fall, the word is out.

Aircraft Rules Course Is Set At Redford

Aircraft ground school sounds like a subject with very limited appeal. Not so found the Northwest YWCA so they are offering a 10-day FAA-approved course to begin Tuesday, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p.m.

And who are these people so interested in pre-flight instruction? People like science teachers, wives of pilots, and people in flight-related jobs in industry. Many of them may never go on to actually flying an airplane or earning a pilot's license, but they do need knowledge about flying.

Meeting Tuesday and Thursday evenings for 2 1/2 hours per session, students in the 50-hour course will cover the theory of flight; navigation and radio operation; meteorology; federal aviation regulations; flight practices; and related publications, aeromedical factors and electronic aids.

Unlike most similar instruction, all course materials will be included in the total fee of $49.50. It's open to men, women and teens from 16 years up to registration information can be obtained from the Northwest YWCA at KE 7-8500. The Northwest Y is located at 2590 Grand River, Redford.

C'ville Band On Field At U-M Day

Clarencville's 110-member marching band was in Ann Arbor Thursday (Sept. 19) to perform along with 124 other bands at the annual high school Band Day hosted by the University of Michigan.

Under the baton of Dr. William D. Revelli, Michigan's director of bands, musicians performed during half-time at the Michigan-University of Arizona football game. Dr. Revelli shared the podium with his assistant, George Clevender.

This year, according to Director John Nettek, Clarencville boasts six majorettes up front along with a new drum major. In previous years, up-front majorettes ranged from two four in number.

They are Marybeth McClary, Laura Giddens, Nancy Laxson, Julie Seal, Sue DiBlase and Cindy Turek, the latter four new this year. New drum major is Sam Gardiner.

Clarencville's black and red uniformed musicians, along with other bandmen, performed "True Blue," "Appaloosa Applause," "America the Beautiful," "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Three Fanfares," "Ringmaster," "War March of the Chippewas" from "Saginaw" and "Fiesta in D Minors" by Bach.

Adult Driver Class At 'Y'

Adults who have been putting off learning to drive, or those who have not driven for years and would like to brush up on it, here is your chance!

On Monday, Sept. 21, from 8 to 10 p.m., the Northwest YWCA is starting a new course in adult driver education. Class consists of one two-hour lecture session and five hours behind the wheel instruction on the road.

To make arrangements, call the Y at 533-3700. It's located at 21755 Seven Mile in northwest Detroit.

Licenses On Sale

License dealers in the metropolitan area now have their 1970 hunting licenses for sale, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

Midnight, Sept. 30, is the deadline to apply for "any deer" permits.

It could be one of the shortest in several years due to the dry weather.

When forests have a prolonged dry spell before fall, leaves do not hang on the trees too long once they change color. Dry leaves are also easily knocked from trees by wind and rain.

The next few weeks should bring brilliant fall color to southeastern Michigan and among the sites easiest to observe the changing season are the parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

Persons may take self-directed color tours at all eight HCMA parks, with the best color expected from early October through the week of Oct. 17.

KENSINGTON METROPOLITAN PARK, located near Milford along the Grand River (I-96) Freeway, is one of the most beautiful areas for fall color.

Sumac, maple, dogwood and sassafras provide early fall color, followed by the aspens, oaks, and wild cherries which bring new hues to the hills surrounding Kent and Wildwing Lakes.

Several miles of roadway provide a restful, colorful drive through the 4,300 acre park. The Canada Geese located near the Nature Center, are a popular attraction. Individual and family groups are welcome to take a nature hike through the labeled trails.

Exhibit hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays, with overflow parking at the west boat launch.

COLOR AT HUDSON'S Metropolitan Park, west of Plymouth, as well as at Delhi and Dexter Huron Metropolitan Parks, also located in Washtenaw County, should be especially brilliant.

Flowering dogwood, scarlet oak, white oak and hickory are the trees providing excellent fall color. Fall wildflowers can be found along the nature trail, where plant life is labeled for easy identification. The park entrance is along Territorial earliest color should tour along Lake Superior in the Upper Peninsula. As the days progress, colors begin to show inland and move southward.

Regardless of where one wishes to tour in the state, chambers of commerce have special detailed color tour maps which are available free.

LOWER HURON Metropolitan Park

along the Huron River near Belleville, offers the changing colors of sumac, black maple, redbud, pin oak and sassafras trees. Two nature trails are available for hikers.

The parkway provides a scenic drive. Other facilities include the picnic and playground areas, the lot and an 18-hole "Par 3" golf course. The entrance is along Haman Road via the Haggerty Road exit from the I-94 (Edsel Ford) Freeway between Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Belleville.

STONY CREEK Metropolitan Park near Washington, six miles north of Utica, covers 2,500 acres of hilly, rolling countryside which is abundant with fall color. Entrance to the park is on 26 Mile Road west of M-53 (Van Dyke) Freeway.

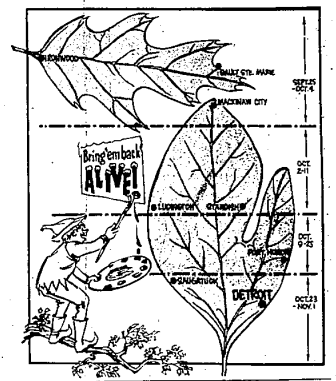

The winding park roads provide an excellent view of the blazing orange clumps of sassafras trees visible on the east side of the park as well as the red hues of oaks and sumac and the yellows of hickory and aspen.

Native white pine trees offer the green foliage of evergreens as a contrast to the vivid colors of the deciduous trees.

THE FOLLOWING dates can guide those planning special trips to specific sections of the state to view Michigan's annual color spectacular:

- Upper Peninsula and northern tip of Lower Peninsula-September 25 to October 4.
- Northern third of Lower Peninsula-Oct. 2-11.
- Central Michigan-Oct. 9-25.
- Southern Michigan-Oct. 23 to Nov. 1.
