

To discuss Chinese art

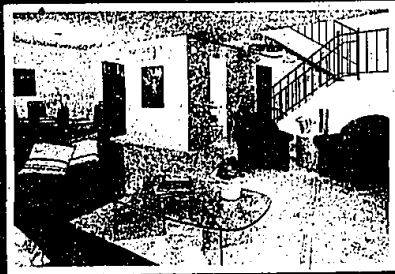

Dr. Shen Fu, curator of Chinese art at the Freer Gallery of Art of Washington, D.C., will give a program, "A Princess - Collector of Chinese Art," at 3 p.m. Saturday at Henry Ford Centennial Library, 16301 Michigan Ave., Dearborn.

Princess Snege, great-granddaughter of Kublai Khan, despite the cultural and social handicaps of being a woman and a Mongol, was an important collector of Chinese art. That custom, which she established in the 14th century, of foreigners collecting Chinese art, is still widely practiced today. Her collection, well documented and including calligraphy, religious paintings, landscapes, ink bamboo and figures, will be discussed by Dr. Shen Fu.

The tickets are $6 and $4 for members of the Friends group.
