Movers and shakers of Farmington, Novl and Farmington Hills should mark their calendars for 8 p.m. May 3. Smith Theatre at Oakland Community College will be the site of Community Access Programming annual awards night.

Whether you are seeking outreach for your service organization or thinking about advertising or producing for nonprofit public service announcements, this evening may help you determine just how you need to use the opportunities in cable television.

Categories being judged are: programming for children; entertainment; information/education; music/dance; public affairs/government; religion; short subjects/fillers; PSAs, promos, intro/clips; sports; volunteers; director; editing; host/hostess; and best of show.

Entertainment will consist of clips of the best in category as well as choreographed skits by the dance troupe under the guidance of Jeanette Demol and Eric Johnson. The other dancers will be representing Betty Johnson Dance Studio and Birmingham Dance Academy.

Call the Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission to reserve your seats, 473-7256.

Metrovision of Oakland County's public-access programming for the week of April 21.
