

Adult education day slated

Saturday, Aug. 23, is Adult Education Day in the Clarenceville School District.

Booths will be set up at Livonia Mall and local Farmer Jack stores, including those at Inkster and Six Mile, Farmington and Seven Mile, Grand River and Eight Mile, Farmington and Nine Mile, and Maple and Orchard Lake roads.

Teachers will be available from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at these locations to register students, answer questions and hand out brochures. Placemats advertising the high school completion program will be used in area McDonald's, Wendy's, White Castle and Ham's Horn restaurants.

Clarenceville includes parts of Livonia, Redford and Farmington Hills.

For information, call the Clarenceville Board of Education office at 473-8900.

ADULT EDUCATION Day, scheduled for August for the past two years, has been used to publicize the many and varied free educational opportunities offered through the Clarenceville School District.

This year, high school completion classes begin the week of Sept. 8. Leisure-time classes begin the week of Sept. 15.

Free high school completion courses are available at Ten Mile Community School in Farmington. Among the new offerings this year are accounting, practical law, survey of social studies, journalism, space age science and office job training.

More than 100 leisure-time classes are offered through the joint efforts of the Clarenceville-Farmington consortium. They are advertised in the fall brochure. Everything from aerobics to yoga, basket weaving to instrument ground school, computers to Spanish and duck decoy carving to self defense is featured.

A family field trip schedule is new to the program. Trips to Port Huron and Portside, Ohio, are scheduled for October, to Frankenmuth and Channing for November and to Meadow Brook for December.

Resident heads donor program

Susan Buse couldn't have picked a busier time to join the LifeShare team at Henry Ford Hospital.

The Farmington Hills resident, a clinical nurse at Henry Ford Hospital since July 1985, has been appointed coordinator of LifeShare, the hospital's organ donor program.

Her appointment came on the heels of a busy July, when five heart transplants were performed — the most in any month since the hospital's first heart transplant on April 23, 1985.

The transplants took place July 4, 13, 14, 27, 30. One of the five recipients waited for a transplant longer than any previous cardiac patient. The patient, who waited seven months, beat the odds since candidates accepted for heart transplantation are considered to have only a 50 percent chance of living six months.

To date, 24 heart transplants have been performed at Henry Ford Hospital.

LifeShare is an integral part of all. Initiated in January 1985, the program is aimed at enhancing efforts to secure donations of organs transplanted at the Detroit Campus, and of organs to share at other transplant centers.

"I'm excited about my new position," said Buse. "Since LifeShare began, a standard of excellence was set, and I'm looking forward to keeping with the tradition."

Buse came to Henry Ford Hospital from the University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics in Madison, Wis., where she was an registered nurse. She earned a bachelor of science degree in nursing at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, attended the University of Illinois at Chicago and is a master's candidate at Wayne State University in Detroit.

Events for area seniors

Seniors adults may attend three events within the next week at no charge.

The "Man of LaMancha" matinee at 2 p.m. Friday in Smith Theatre on Orchard Ridge Campus, Oakland Community College, is free for all area seniors and people with hearing impairment.

Monday, Aug. 25, is Senior Citizen's Day at Michigan State Fair with special senior adult information booths set up with listings free for admission events.

Friday, Aug. 29, is the annual "Isabella Fieselmann Day" at Detroit Zoo, with admission, walking tours and train rides free, arranged by Perry Drug Stores and Area Agency on Aging.
