Marlins, at last, bounce Marian

By Chris McCoaky
Staff writer

Kathy Heimbuch, like every other Farmington Hills Mercy tennis player, had never experienced victory against Birmingham Marian.

So, when she looked up in the third set of her No. 2 singles match Monday against Marian's Patty Oxley and saw all her teammates watching with eager interest, she knew she could finally do something about all those past losses.

With the team score even 3-3, and her match deadlocked at one set apiece, Heimbuch went to work. She drilled Oxley 6-0 in the final set to give Mercy its first victory against Marian, 4-3.

In so doing, she gave the Marlins a golden shot at the Catholic League dual meet championship. Mercy (5-2) needs only to beat Livonia Ladywood today to clinch the dual meet title.

IRONICALLY, MARIAN had dusted Mercy convincingly last Friday, 5-2.

"We always give them good matches, but they just seem to come on top," Mercy coach Jim Kerwin said. "On Friday, we lost two three-set matches against them. But on Monday, they had one girl out sick and that opened the doors just enough for us to be able to take advantage of it. But our girls played great tennis, too."

Mercy won all four singles matches. Nicole Trancou defeated Jenny Catalano 6-1, 6-0 at No. 1. On Friday, Catalano won 7-6, 6-1. Heimbuch won 7-5, 2-6, 6-0. Becky Tasch defeated Allison Garcia at No. 3, 6-1, 6-1. Carole Williams beat Anne Pollard at No. 4, 6-2, 6-3.

Marian, who played without first-string No. 3 player Jodie Mahilla, won all three doubles matches in straight sets.

Kerwin, pleased with the effort of his entire team, had special praise for Heimbuch. "She showed a lot of concentration and a lot of self-determination out there. She fell behind in the first set and had to dig way down deep to pull herself back up. You could just see her bearing down on the court."

THE VICTORY over Marian followed an impressive showing Saturday at the eight-team Grosse Pointe Invitational. Mercy placed third behind Grosse Pointe South (35 points) and Ann Arbor Huron (27). Mercy (22) beat out Grosse Pointe North (20), Dearborn (15), Birmingham Groves (10), Bloomfield Hills Andover (5) and Fraser (2).

Becky Tasch was the champion at No. 3 singles beating South's Katy Turner, 7-6, 6-3, in the finals.

Kitty Phene and Kim Walker placed second at No. 4 doubles.

Carole Williams won the consolation championship (third place) at No. 4 singles, and Mercy placed third at Nos. 1, 2 and 3 doubles.

"Everyone contributed, and that's what you need at these types of events," Kerwin said.

Kerwin expects Mercy to gain a ranking among the state's top 10 this week.
