Contest opens

Artists interested in entering work in the Helen DeRoy competition at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus should call Keganah Tazian, 471-7796, or write to him in care of Oakland Community College, Orchard Ridge, 27055 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills 48015.

This is the fifth year for this all-media competition that has purchase prizes of $750 and $500 and total prize money of $1,800. The judge is Bernard Goldman of Wayne State University.

The competition is open to Oakland County residents and/or people who have taken courses at any of the Oakland Community College campuses.

Tuning up for finals

Greg Staples, a 16-year-old violinist from Birmingham, and Bradley Neldeck, a 15-year-old marimba player from Troy, are among the finalists in the Macaebes Quest for the Best talent competition. The contest is also sponsored by radio station CKLW-AM.

On Dec. 15 both young musicians will join other finalists at Orchestra Hall for the grand finals, where $8,000 in scholarship prizes will be awarded. Staples, a student at Andover High school, studies violin with Camilla Wuecks at the University of Michigan. His other teachers have included Beatrice Staples, his mother, and Geoffrey Applegate, both members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. He is a member of the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra and has received top ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's Solo and Ensemble Festival.

Neldeck, a student at Troy High School, studies with Norman Fickett of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. He also plays piano and has received top ratings on both instruments at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's Solo and Ensemble Festival.
