Entertainment

Mime artist O.J. Anderson, a former Southfield resident, is one of the stars at the Folk Festival headlined by Claudia Schmidt at 8 p.m. Saturdey, Nov. 3, at the Musle Hall Con-ter in Detroit. For lickets at $12.50-$8.50, call the box off-ice, 983-7880.

upcoming

things to do

• AREA PREMIERE

Meadow Brook Theatre will present the Detroit-area premiere of "Foxfire" by Susan Cooper and flume Crony at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 6, on the Oakland University campus in Rochester Hills. The play, which opened last year on Broadway, is a comedy-drama
about a Blue Ridge Mountain farm family forced to break a generations-old link to the land. The cast includes May Fogarty, Arthur tions-old link to the land. The cast includes Mary Fogarty, Arthur Beer, Paul Hopper, Joseph Reed, Dona Werner and Thomas Mahard. For ticket information, call the box office at 377-3300.

HALLOWEEN SPOOF

e HALLOWEEN SPOOF

"Do Not Remove," a five-minute
Halloween with vampires, maisons, apoptins, children and
people who choose to disregard warning labels, continues through Thursday, Oct. 30, preceding each feature at the Maple Three Theatres in Bloomfield Township. Joseph Alvaro, former Birmingham resident, now of New York, directed the film. Ills brother, Timethy, of Royal Oak, wrote the spoof, Among Detroit-area residents in the cast are Richard Knox of Birmingham and Sara Brenner of Bloomfield Hills.

HALLOWEEN PARTY
 The Pennut Butter Players, professional children's luncheon the acter headquartered in Lathrup Village, will offer a Halloween Party during regular performances at 1 p.m. Saturday, Sunday, Nov. 1-2, Halloween weekend, at Austin Hall/Mailard Pub in Grosse Pointe. All children who come to the show in costume will be entered in a costume contest to be held onstage and judged by the actors. The fall show, Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Cinderella," is Hammerstein's "Cinderélla," is preceded at noon by a lunch of hot dogs, potato chips, peanut butter cookies, apple and beverage. Tickets at $6 include lunch and the show. Performances continue through Dec. 7. For reservations, call 559-6PBP.

call 559-6PBP.

PLAY 'JUVIE'
'Juvie' by Jerome McDonough will be presented at 2 p.m. Sundays, Nov. 30 and Dec. 7, at Will-OWay Theatre in Birmingham. The short play deals with eight juvenile delinquents who spend an entire evening in a holding cell. Will-OWay is forming a team called 'We Can Hear 'You', to deal, with the problems of crime, drugs and aleahol in today's youth. After the program, a group of young, recovering alcohol and drug abusers from Straight Inc. In Plymouth will share stories with the me clinic
share stories with the acclinic
property of the company of the company
Telesta are 46. For further information, call Franche Hachem after 6 p.m. at 644-4418.

CODEN RETURNS

• CODEN RETURNS
Ron Coden and Company return
for an eight-week stay beginning
Friday, Nov. 7, at the Comedy Crossing in Southfield. Coden and his two sidekirks of many years, Ron Blight and Steve Fava, do the comedy and music that Coden has presented for more than 20 years.
Shows are at 8.30 and 11 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays including New Year's Eve. Warmup comedians
open the show. Cover charge is $5
Fridays, $6 Saturdays. An openmike night is featured at $ p.m.
Wednesdays, cover charge $3. For reservations, call 353-3708.

Staging new plays is a worthwhile challenge

By Cathle Breidenbach

RINITY HOUSE THEATRE
of Livonia is committed to giving new playwrights a chance to see their work on stage.

on stage. Claime to See their winds on stage.

The group enjoys the challenge of producing untried and unpublished plays at its theater, a 19th-century former meeting house that looks like an old country church, on Six Mile Road near 1-275. The theater holds $0, and as the season moves along, the house will frequently be full. Trinity House has never followed he usual community-theater success formula of staging only seasoned, Broadway hits. Most community groups say audiences shy away from plays they don't know and that working out the kinks in a new play can be a director's nightnare.

For six years, Trinity House has been successfully running against the current by producing unknown plays. The group pulls respectable audiences and enhusiastic crews for its production, and its membership is growing.

UNDER THE FRESH leadership of Brinn Heersink, Trinity House will continue to premiere new plays and to develop its role as a theatri-cal think tank where local play-wrights can get help pruning and polishing new plays to get them ready for possible production in a future Trinity Plouse season.

"We work with playwrights," Heerslink said, to help them develop their characters, improve pacing and decide what will work on singe. Most plays go through several rowrites. Then we put on a staged reading."

Heersink sald, "We love to get manuscripts," and explains that Trinity House hasn't sought out writ-ers because "so far they've found

This season, the group will present several plays which have never been staged before and a few which have seen the footlights only once or twice. In September, the group presented "Vardley's Lives," a comedy about a cartoonist whose comic strip characters jump off the page and invade the life of their creator.

vace the life of their creator.

The group's next presentation, "An Evening of One Acts," plays weekends from Friday, Nov. 14, through Saturday, Dec. 13. The evening opens with the Michigan premiere of "Vinginia is for Lovers," a one at which won a playwriting contest in Texas. "Collection," by group member Jim Leach of Ann Arbor, will bave its first run before an audience. Rounding out the evening of one acts will be "Maggie and Beth" by Paul Patton, founder of Trinity House Theatre.

IN FEBRUARY, the group will present the comedy-fantasy "Candle in the Wind" by Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the Russlan writer who emigrated to the United States after being persecuted in a Siberian "work" camp for refusing to espouse the party line.

The body of Solzhenitsyn's work shows a seriousness seemingly out of synch with a comedy-fantasy, yet "Candle in the Wind" manages both to ask typical Solzhenitsyn questions about how we should live and to be light-hearted entertainment. "Candle" runs weekends from Feb. 20 through March 21.

through March 21.

Closting play of the season, "Gravity" by Poul Patton, incorporates original rock muste numbers into a story about a girl searching for meaning. In her quest, she meets a bizarre wizard who does magic tricks. "Gravity" runs weekends from May 1 through June 6.

Tickets for Trinity House Theatre performances cost $3 for Thursday nights and $4 for Friday and Saturday. For reservations, call 464-6302.

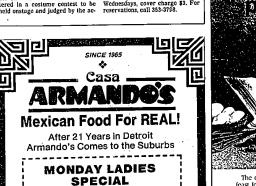

Local playwright Paul Patton founded Trinity House Theatre six years ago and headed up the group until this September. Demands of his me, full-time job as assistant pastor of Trinity Baptist Church forced him to cut back his involvement with Trinity House, but he remains active on the board of directors and as a popular contributing playwright.

on the board of directors and as popular contributing playwright.

BRIAN HEERSINK trained in theater at Dordt College and as a citor in New York. He spent last year working on several Trinity House productions and directed one of them. This year he heast group an said, "I seem to have two indiving the property of the Rehearing a scene from the Trinity House Theatre production of "Virginia is for Lovers" are Donna Miller, Richard Shawl and Bethany Moore.

ALL DAY 2 FOR 1 Pollo Asodo Fajitas

fresh breast chicken, charcoal brolled, served with green pappers, onions, pineapple, rice a beans. WITH THIS COUPON ONLY

OPEN FOR LUNCH AND DINNER FRI. & SAT. 11:00 A.M.-1:00 A.M. MON.-THURS, 11:00 A.M.-11:00 P. SUN, 4:00 P.M.-11:00 P.M.

29200 Orchard Lk. Rd. • Farm. Hills 626-2982

The exciting Champagne Brunch at the Bistro M is a cast for the eyes and palate.

Spectacular fresh fruit, omelettes to order, hot carved items, chilled salads, pastries galore and the champagne

Every Sunday from 11 a.m to 3 p.m. $14.95 for adults seniors Just $11.95 and $6.95 for children under 11. All prices plus tax and gratuity.

Michigan Inn. 16400 J.L. Hudson Drive Southfield. Michigan. 313/559-6500

(313) 583-9000

THE BROADWAY BRUNCH The All New Troy Hilton Sunday Brunch Buffet

A star is born. The Troy Hillom's all new Sunday Broadway Brunch Buffer starring hec Broadway plano missic, an exetting chance to win two theater tokety plus appetizing cest including a cher's carving, creative omelettes and international specialties made to order, chating dish selections, esta-shrings, musked salution and bagels, endless pastries plus nuch more!

The All New Troy Hilton Sunday Broadway Brunch Buffet...You'll come back for an encore!

Every Sunday 10am-3pm Adults *12.95 Senior Citizens *11.95 Children under 10

Troy Hilton Inn 1455 Stephenson Highway Troy, Michigan 48084