Positive thinker has upbeat style

Dear Ms. Green:

I always read your interesting column and am eager to have my writing analyzed.

I'm right-handed, and last month we celebrated my 84th birthday.

L.W.

Dear L.W.:

A gracious lady quickly comes to mind as I study your beautiful copy-book handwriting style.

Hope springs eternal for you! The upstroke to your lines of handwriting reveals your positive thinking. Optimism such as yours must certainly include faith in a higher being.

Your pleasant manner ingratiates you to all who know you. And you reach out to them with compassion and a helping hand.

Pride and dignity influence all that you do. Nothing less than your best effort would please you. Self-improvement has always been part of you.

WHILE YOU are usually a discreet conversationalist, you do enjoy an upbeat discussion. You seek smooth relationships, but are not a pushover on matters of importance to you.

Your thinking is done in a methodical, careful manner. Creativity is also here. A tad of intuition may furnish answers at times.

Some worry and a little irritation, seemingly with self, are here. This seems almost paradoxical to the pleasant, positive manner so pervasive in your handwriting. But be assured we all have some contradictions in our makeup.

Although you have probably always handled responsibility, you continue with a willingness to accept it. And you give it your best effort.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed through this newspaper write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white unlined paper writing in the first person singular. Age, signature and handedness are all helpful. And feedback is always welcomed.
