Community is invited to join in Thanksgiving

That Thanksgiving occurs in the midst of National Bible Week each year seems particularly fitting to most churchgoers, and the local congregation of Christian Scientists is no exception. Members invite the community to join with them in a special service Thursday in gratitude to God.

Each year Christian Scientists offer this service to their community, friends and neighbors, as an opportunity to join together in thanks to God, not only for answered prayer, but "for the very nature of God, divine Lord," according to a church spokesperson.

The service at the church on 33825 Grand River will begin at 10:30 a.m. Gratitude, testimonies of healing, prayer and singing will be the order of the day.

A verse from Psalms sounds the keynote for Thanksgiving: "... thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power..."

Each year, a portion of the hour-long Thanksgiving Day service is set aside especially for spontaneous sharing of thanks to God. It's not unusual for Christian Scientists to briefly relate how prayer has brought them release from various difficulties, including sickness.

Music and hymn singing also have a part in the service as does the prayer commended by Christ Jesus to his followers and now called "the Lord's Prayer."
