terms that may be distracting, such as stripes and dots. Wear a minimum amount of jewelry.

- Avoid bare arms — the lightest area of the portrait should be your face; eyes automatically are attracted to light areas.

- Bring a favorite toy or bottle for infants, along with a hairbrush, fresh diapers and a change of clothing.

Your photographer will be able to help you choose a finish and frame for your portrait. A surprising variety of looks are available, from modern to traditional; they can even be printed on canvas for an "oil painting" look (for Kodak's brochure on portrait photography, write Department 412L, Eastman Kodak Co., 343 State St., Rochester, NY 14650).

Giving portraits for Christmas saves the time usually spent looking for the right gift. Photographers keep negatives on file, in case one shot isn't enough for a friend or relative.
