

Seniors can win awards

Ten high school seniors who have distinguished themselves in the world of work will win $10,000 in scholarships in the first Careers Magazine Leadership Awards.

Students can get applications from guidance counselors at most high schools, or in the fall issue of Careers or by writing the magazine at 1001 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10018.

In announcing the Careers Awards, publisher Sondra Kurtin said, "This is a most unique effort, because it will honor students and involve teachers, businesses and parents in a multi-faceted cooperative program. It is about time we take a look at the up side of today's young people — those who have exhibited independence, maturity and responsibility in their lives."

Other sponsors include Artcarved Class Rings, Burger King Corp., Chase Manhattan Bank and Nation's Business Magazine, which will host the awards event on April 7, at the headquarters of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C.

Any graduating high school senior between 16 and 19 years of age is eligible if he or she has worked at least 10 hours a week during the school year or full time during the summer (at least five days a week or six consecutive weeks), as well as any senior who has started his/her own business.

Applicants must submit no more than a 500-word statement about their experiences, to be backed up by a teacher and employer or customer letters of recommendation telling what made the student's contribution outstanding. Entries must be postmarked no later than Jan. 1.

Entries will be judged on the basis of leadership, responsibility, determination and creativity shown on the job. Judges will also look at the impact and results of job performance. Initial screening of applications will be conducted by a special panel of teachers selected by the American Federation of Teachers.

Their recommendations will be sent on to a panel constituted by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce for final selection of the 10 winners, each to receive a $1,000 scholarship and a ring specially designed by Artcarved Class Rings for the Careers Leadership Awards.

Winners will be sent by Careers to Washington, D.C., for the luncheon awards ceremony, hosted by Nation's Business. The president of the United States has been invited, and representatives of the Department of Education and industry leaders will be in attendance. Parents/guardians will accompany each winner. A White House tour and visits to Capital Hill also will be included in the day's activities.

Project is scheduled

Residents of Longwood Avenue in Farmington Hills should have relief from storm sewer problems as early as January.

The Farmington Hills City Council awarded low bid for the drainage project to Sole Construction Co. of Westland for $21,270.80 Nov. 24. Money for the project was approved on July 28 from the city's Capital Improvement Fund. The city engineer's estimate for the project was $33,400.

The company estimates the project will take about 30 days and can be scheduled to begin in December.

Sole's was one of five bids ranging upwards of $39,847.

Store seeks state license

The owner of a new party store, The Savings Spot, has applied to the state for a specially designated merchant license for the sale of beer and wine for consumption off the premises, according to information from the city of Farmington.

The owner, Salem Kanna, plans to open his 1,000-square-foot business at 3182 Grand River west of Lakeview Street.

The Farmington Department of Public Safety has conducted an investigation into Kanna's background and finds no basis to object to the license, according to the city.
