

Oakland GOP buries appointment ax—a bit

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Republicans have partially buried the hatchet they've been swinging at Oakland County Democrats for the past six years.

The County Board of Commissioners last week gave a Democrat—Commissioner Larry Pernick of Southfield—one of three seats in the general assembly of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

"It's clear the leadership of the Republicans has recognized that it's in the best interests to have bipartisan representation," said Pernick, leader of the Democratic caucus. The veteran county board member has assailed the GOP regularly for washing out Democrats from the multitude of committees, boards and delegations that carry out governmental duties.

THE NEW county board chairman, Roy Rewold, R-Rochester, saw the move as a method of ending "bickering over unimportant issues."

Rewold, a fourth-term county commissioner who unseated Richard Wilcox of Lake Orion as chairman, held out the prospect there would be further bipartisan appointments, but didn't specify any. Pernick Currently, Republicans hold a 17-9 majority on the Board of Commissioners. Democrats gained a net of one seat in the 1986 election.

The era of partisanship began when Republicans found themselves in nearly 2-1 control of the Board of Commissioners. Pernick, who had been a SEMCOG delegate and leader for years, found himself washed out.

Republicans also took complete control of the three-member Road Commission, which had had a minority party member for years.

THE PARTISAN ax was only partially buried, however, as Republicans kept complete control of several other key bodies during last week's meeting.

Larry Littman, Troy businessman, was appointed to a full six-year term on the Road Commission. A former 18th Congressional District Republican chairman, Littman was appointed to a one-month vacancy last year. The vacancy was created when John Gaus Jr., a Bloomfield Hills public relations man, was convicted of an unrelated federal fraud charge.

Democrats nominated Berkeley Mayor Ron Norman for the Road Commission post and took their usual party line beating.

COMMISSIONER Hubert Price, D-Pontiac, delivered a strong protest when no Democrat was appointed to the 10-member Parks and Recreation Commission. "There is a paucity of minority representation and urban representation," Price said.

"I haven't heard why he (the last Democrat) was summarily dismissed. It sounds like good ol' politics, not public service," Price said. Commissioner James Doyon, D-Madison Heights, said he was "appalled" that Republicans wouldn't appoint a single Democrat to a 12-member mental health committee.

All appointments were reported out by the county board's General Government Committee, chaired by second-term Commissioner Richard Skarritt, R-Milford.

WHILE IGNORING most Democratic charges, Republicans stoutly defended Littman's appointment to the Road Commission during a committee meeting.

"He has no baggage. He asks inclusive questions. He's not connected to the construction industry," said Commissioner Joseph Calandro, R-Novi, told the general government committee.

Board Chairman Rewold said Troy officials are convinced Littman will be fair and "won't put all the new roads in Troy."

Democrat Pernick, however, argued that new money is badly needed for county road improvements.

"In order to raise funds, it's going to take a bipartisan approach to get state and federal funds—no diminution of your talents," he said to Littman.

Replied Littman: "I'd be surprised if a Democratic official (in Lansing) said, 'I won't talk to you because you were once an official of the other party.'"

Littman added that he has resigned from the Troy City Planning Commission to avoid a conflict of interest and from most other civic panels in order to devote time to the Road Commission.

Oakland unfurls 3rd state flag

Oakland County is off to an aggressive start in observing the 150th anniversary of Michigan's statehood.

It's using its second sesquicentennial flag, according to Virginia DeBenham Rodgers, Franklin resident, who chairs the county's anniversary advisory council.

"Our sesquicentennial flag has been flown every day for 1 1/2 years. It has been replaced already," she told 100 people who gathered at midday Monday for ceremonies celebrating Michigan's admission to the Union as the 26th state.

And so the while flag Roy Rewold, R-Rochester, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, helped two girl scouts "officially" unfurl, actually is Oakland's third sesquicentennial flag.

OAKLAND'S PLANS for observing 150 years of statehood are respectful without going overboard.

"First, we'll host the state Airtrain here Oct. 8-11," Rodgers said in an interview.

"And we hope to raise enough money for a sculpture to honor the veterans Michigan has been in seven wars, and we have the county motto, 'If we can't take enough for a sculpture, we'll have a memorial garden.'"

After a fanfare, hymn and national anthem by the Farmington High Symphony Band directed by Grant Hoemke, Rodgers told the grade school children—about half the audience—that "it's possible for many of you to attend another ceremony in 50 years—the Michigan Bicentennial."

Nancy McConnell, R-Bloomfield Hills, vice chairman of the county board, told the youngsters they would be welcome to visit Oakland's legislative body anytime. "You don't have to wait 50 years to come back," she said.

THE CONGRESSIONAL bill signed by President Andrew Jackson was read by Oakland County Clerk

State pledge to flag flunks grammar

The state has an official Pledge of Allegiance to the Michigan Flag—a with two grammatical mistakes.

"That was the way the state sent it to us from Lansing," smiled Virginia DeBenham Rodgers, who chairs the Oakland County Advisory Council for the Michigan Sesquicentennial, when the errors were pointed out.

The state pledge was printed in a county program commemorating the 150th anniversary of the day President Jackson signed the act making Michigan a state.

Read the full text and see if you can spot the errors:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of Michigan, and the state for which it stands, two beautiful peninsulas, united by a bridge of steel, where equal opportunity and justice to all is our ideal."

The errors are in the final clause. "Opportunity" and "justice" constitute plural subjects, but "is" is a singular verb and "ideal" a singular predicative noun.

A corrected version would say:

"...equal opportunity and justice to all are our ideals."

This newspaper called the Michigan History Division of the Department of State for an explanation. The call was transferred to the History Bureau, where the caller was placed on hold for six minutes at long-distance rates before discontinuing the search.
