

Pursell, Kadish Debate School Finance

PAUL KADISH
DemocratCARL PURSELL
Republican

By R.T. THOMPSON

Carl Pursell (R), of Plymouth, and Paul Kadish (D), of Livonia, candidates for the 14th District seat in the State Senate, were asked the general question:

"Excluding the question of aid to non-public schools, how would you propose financing education in Michigan? What changes should be made in the state's educational system?"

The advertising finance district includes Livonia, Farmington and Plymouth, spoke last week at a panel Scholarcraft College sponsored by the League of Women Voters and Jaycees.

Said Kadish: "On the question of financing, we know that many school districts are on the verge of bankruptcy because people won't vote for any additional millage."

"THE STATE constitution makes it difficult to realize an evaluation of 50 per cent of the true cash value on land or property for tax purposes. This is an automatic tax for homeowners since the values have only gone up in the past several years."

"I propose amending the state constitution to provide for a 16 mill limit and equal assessment for all. We all know that properties throughout the state are not assessed equally and this should be eliminated."

"I would propose an amendment for an individual income tax because I feel this is the only way we can adequately finance the state's education system," said Kadish, an insurance man.

PURSELL took up the point by stressing that the voters had already defeated a graduated income tax proposal by a 2-1 vote.

"Costs of living have increased to the point where the schools will have to pay $8 million more in salaries and the money will have to come from somewhere. We will have to take a look at the whole 100 per cent of the property tax at its highest level and then make a decision."

"I would make five proposals. No. 1, place the State Board of Education under the governor, who would make all appointments. Two, place policy making at the local level."

"Three, reduce the intermediate school districts to a total of 34. Four, have the state assume all costs for the handicapped. Five, start pilot programs for young men at the elementary school level."

Pursell, a former teacher and real estate salesman, is a Wayne County commissioner.

"I will make five proposals. No. 1, place the State Board of Education under the governor, who would make all appointments. Two, place policy making at the local level."

"I will vote 'no'."

"Q: Do either of you favor a lottery or legalized gambling?"

A-Pursell: "I am against a lottery or gambling to build up the state treasury."

Kadish: "We can't depend on lottery or gambling to build up the state treasury."

Q: Do you think gun control will lower the crime rate?"

A-Pursell: "I believe we have adequate gun laws, but we must have stricter enforcement."

Kadish: "I feel the increased crime rate is due to drugs and getting dope."

SC Scholarship Honors Priest

A main of concern for youth, their education and development as decent human beings, the Rev. Francis J. Wojcik had a profound effect upon thousands during his 32 years in the priesthood — a service ended by his death last July.

As a tribute to both the man and his work, the Scholarcraft College Foundation has established the Father Wojcik Memorial Scholarship Endowment Fund.

Father Wojcik himself was active in the foundation, which has appropriated an initial $1,000 to the fund in his honor.

DURING HIS last 22 years, Father Wojcik served as chaplain of the Maybury Sanitorium, the Detroit House of Correction and the Wayne County Child Development Center, all in the Plymouth-Northville area.

Earlier he served the Catholic Youth Organization as chaplain and as organizer and spiritual director of CYO boys camps. He also taught English at Sacred Heart Seminary, Detroit.

Father Wojcik was a graduate of St. Florian School in Hamtramck.

AT THE meeting during which the Father Wojcik Scholarship was established, two foundation members, Jan

Reef of Northville and Robert Cadotte of Livonia, each contributed personal gifts to the fund.

Others may wish to join the foundation in honoring Father Wojcik by contributing to the scholarship fund his life and work has inspired. Contributions should be sent to

"Father Wojcik Fund," care of Russell Bogarin, director of financial aids, Scholarcraft College, Livonia, Mich. 48151.

Kadish: "I'd say the ACLU and the Michigan Education Association."

Q: What is your position on Proposition C?

A-Pursell: "I will vote 'yes' and oppose to parochial aid such."

Kadish: "I will vote 'no'."

Q: Do either of you favor a lottery or legalized gambling?"
