

Golden smiles

John Heitkamp (left), vice president of Kirco Realty & Development Ltd. of Bloomfield Hills, greets March of Dimes Goodwill Ambassador Lindsay Stefanko of Farmington Hills at a breakfast for the Golden Mile fund raiser. Heitkamp is one of many who will participate in the Friday, April 24 walk, a symbolic one-mile jaunt through Detroit's New Center Area for business leaders who have the heart but not the time to be part of the 30-kilometer WalkAmerica, a nationwide March of Dimes activity, to be held two days later. For information about pledging or participating in the Golden Mile, call the March of Dimes, 423-3200.

Help salute deserving youths

Nominations of Farmington-area student volunteers are being accepted for the Farmington Youth Assistance annual recognition program.

Winning nominees will be honored at the FYA's second annual Youth Recognition Breakfast Thursday May 28, at the Farmington Community Center, 24705 Farmington Farmington Hills.

"Farmington Youth Assistance is eager to honor young people who quietly and conscientiously find avenues for generous, unselfish actions on behalf of others, but who are not normally recognized for their efforts by the community at large," said Madelyn Ryan, youth recognition committee chairwoman.

Though schools, churches, hospitals and nursing homes have been contacted for nominations, FYA officials are asking for nominations from Farmington and Farmington Hills residents who may know of a deserving youth. Nominators may be adults or organizations that wish to honor a youth for volunteer service.

TO BE eligible, nominees must be Farmington or Farmington Hills residents in grades 6-12. Nominees will be judged strictly on voluntary service to another individual, organization or the community. Paid services and community service for high school credit will not be considered.

Nomination forms may be obtained by calling the FYA office at 476-3840. Nominations should be submitted by Friday, April 17, to the FYA, 30415 Shawwassee, Farmington Hills, 48024.

Inquiries about the recognition breakfast should be directed to Ryan at 553-7591.
