Reflection contest winners are named

Twenty-two elementary school students have been given first, second or third-place awards after judging by Farmington Area PTA Council for their entries in the National PTA Reflections Program.

The youth accepted their awards in a ceremony during a Farmington Public School Board meeting.

Reflections aims to encourage creative expression among the young in visual arts, music and literature. The program is designed to generate creative efforts and provide an opportunity for children's creative expression in the fine arts.

In the category for kindergartners through third graders Inge-Lise Baessler from Flanders Elementary School took the first place spot in art, followed by Rachel Edford and Vanessa DeSousa, both from Longacre Elementary School.

Photography winners were Matthew Maniaco from Flanders, followed by Inge-Lise and Corey Grider, from Kenbrook.

Literature winners were Stephen Merenda from Eagle, followed by Jamie Livermore from Longacre and Lindsay Frank from Eagle. Music top spot winner was Tricia Rhew from Longacre, followed by Stephanie Zameck from Eagle.

IN COMPETITION among fourth and fifth graders, Jennifer Baydoun from Gill Elementary School took the first place spot in the art division. She was followed by Kelly Dudley and Erin Kenney, both from Longacre.

Winners for their photographic abilities were Nathaniel Canvasser from Eagle, Jennifer Irani from Kenbrook and Ray Takehashi from Eagle.

Literature winners were Deborah Popp from Gill, followed by Nisha Kapoor from Longacre and Colleen Weising from Flanders.

Music winners were Shirlee Beiman from Kenbrook and Michael Merenda from Eagle.

The theme for this year's Reflections was "A Past to Remember — A Future to Mold."
