

Community Living earns Kresge grant

Community Living Centers Inc. has received a $150,000 challenge grant from the Kresge Foundation. The grant supplements funds for Community Living Centers' planned housing project for senior citizens with developmental disabilities in Farmington Hills. This is the second Kresge Foundation grant to be awarded to Community Living Centers.

At the time of the September grant announcements, the Kresge Foundation had awarded 119 grants in 1987 for a total of $38 million; it will continue to make new grant commitments during the balance of the year.

In 1986 the foundation reviewed 915 proposals and awarded grants totaling $45 million to 151 charitable organizations in 37 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Great Britain. Grants are made to institutions operating in the areas of higher education, health care, arts and humanities, social service, science and conservation, religion and public policy.

Grants are made toward projects involving construction or renovation of facilities and the purchase of major capital equipment or real estate. Most grant recipients have raised initial dollars toward their respective projects before requesting foundation assistance. Grants are then made on a challenge basis, requiring the raising of the remaining money, thereby ensuring completion of the projects.

The Kresge Foundation is an independent, private foundation created by the personal gifts of Sebastian S. Kresge. It is not affiliated with any corporation or organization.

Community Living Centers is a private, non-profit corporation operating group homes for developmentally disabled throughout Oakland County. Mary Wagner, Community Living Centers executive director, founded the corporation 19 years ago to provide homelike environments for adults who require supervision in accomplishing their daily living tasks.

The new senior residence will house 12 people whose needs can no longer be appropriately met in general adult foster care settings.

Headlee lauds Twins owner

AP — Richard Headlee, whose condition was upgraded to satisfactory one week after he got a new heart, telegraphed congratulations to an associate who owns the Minnesota Twins.

Headlee, a 57-year-old Farmington Hills insurance executive who was the 1982 Republican candidate for Michigan governor, was transferred last week from the intensive care unit to a regular room at LDS Hospital in Salt Lake City, where he underwent heart transplant surgery, said his wife, Mary.

Doctors upgraded Headlee's condition Oct. 21.

"He is now on a regular diet and up and walking around. We've had nothing but good news," Headlee's wife said in a statement released by William McMaster, a spokesman for Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance

Holocaust talk is on Tuesday

Harry James Cargas, associate and founding editor of the International Journal, "Holocaust and Genocide Studies," Webster University, St. Louis, Mo., will present a lecture under the auspices of the Holocaust Memorial Center 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 27, in Shiftman Hall of the Jewish Community Center Maple and Drake Roads in West Bloomfield.

Theologian, scholar, author, columnist, television producer, radio commentator, media critic and athletic coach, Cargas is the only Catholic ever appointed to the International Advisory Committee at Yad Vashem, Israel.

He is also national director for the Community Outreach and Church U.S. Holocaust Memorial Council, Washington, D.C., and holds leadership positions on the International Academic Advisory Board, Simon Wiesenthal Center, Advisory Committee, Friends of Le Chambon; Executive Council, National Christian Leadership Conference for Israel; International Committee, Institute of Contemporary Jewry, Hebrew University Jerusalem; and on the St. Louis Holocaust Commission.

Cargas has earned many awards including the Ann Frank Institute's Eternal Flame Award, the United Nations Association's Human Rights Award, the Micah Award, presented by the American Jewish Committee, and the Missing Award in support of faculty research.

In addition to his evening presentation, Cargas will meet with the donors and speakers of the Holocaust Memorial Center on Wednesday, Oct. 28 at 9:30 a.m. for an informal breakfast session.

The evening session at the Jewish Community Center is open to the public and there is no charge. The morning session is by invitation. For further information, call 661-0840.

Surplus food available

Surplus commodity food will be given out from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 27, in St. Alexander's Church, 27835 Shilawasee, Farmington Hills.

The food, distributed through the Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency, includes cheese, butter and dry milk. It will be made available every other month.

Eligible Oakland County residents should bring the following information to register for the 1987-88 Surplus Commodity Food Program year: Social Security card, proof of income for the past 90 days and personal identification.

Hills men help Torch Drive

Two Farmington Hills residents are participating in the United Foundation Loaned Executive Program this fall, assisting with the 1987 Torch Drive campaign.

Loaned executives are individuals loaned on a full-time basis to UF by their employers for a 14-week period during the annual Torch Drive.

William George, staff manager for Michigan Bell in Detroit, and Reynold Brandt, manager of auto support services for Blue Cross/Blue Shield in Detroit, will be assisting company chairs running Torch Drive campaigns throughout the tri-county area.

This year's Torch Drive runs through Nov. 5 and raises money for 153 health and community service agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The 1987 Torch Drive goal is $59 million.
