

Dawn Singer models one of her one-of-a-kind sweatshirts, which will be on sale during Farmington Area Community Women's Arts and Crafts Sale Saturday.

70 crafters join show and sale

Dawn Singer, a Southfield resident who holds a copyright and patent on her sweatshirts, is one of 70 artisans who will be selling their original work from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, in Farmington High School, 3200 Shawwassee. There is no admission charge.

"A well-rounded variety of one of a kind items will be on sale," said Katrina Cheema, speaker for Farmington Area Community Women, who annually sponsor the preholiday show.

"Dawn has attracted a lot of attention with her sweatshirts, but her biggest achievement to date is that she has received an invitation to be a featured designer at the Dallas Apparel Mart in Texas — the largest wholesale market in the U.S.," Cheema said. The denim-topped sweatshirts have been featured on Kelly & Company and on cable TV.

FACW members will be manning a concession booth throughout show hours. All proceeds from the show and sale are turned back into the community through service projects funded by the club.

The service and leadership organization sponsor fund-raisers throughout the year interspersed with social events for its members of all ages and of various backgrounds.

Membership inquiries are taken by Joyce Allender, 553-7217.

CPA gives investors tax calendar for '87

The "Investor's Tax Calendar for 1987" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, in Farmington Community Center.

The guest speaker will be Jeff Sobolewski, a financial consultant with Merrill Lynch and licensed in certified public accounting, securities, real estate and insurance.

Topics to be discussed at the seminar include the new tax reform and how it affects individuals and businesses, personal finances, IRA management; diversification and becoming familiar with various investment products.

"Whether you're planning for college, buying a house, starting a business or retirement there is something for you at the seminar," Sobolewski said.

Before an individual invests, Sobolewski recommends:

- Acquire disability insurance. Even if you're single, your money can be severely drained by an untimely disability.
- Consider life insurance. Life insurance can be used as an investment and enables you to invest tax-free.
- Solidify your household budget. You need to know how much you have left for investing.
- Define your reasons for investing.
- Become familiar with the various investment products such as guaranteed government bonds or corporate bonds, dividends, certificates of deposit and real estate rentals.

"The Investor's Tax Calendar for 1987 is an example of The Farmington Community Center's commitment to the advancement of education in the community," said Clara Lawrence, program coordinator for the community center. "With the recent fluctuations in the market, we should all learn about our options."

Jeff Sobolewski

Cost of the seminar is $8. Reservations can be made at the Farmington Community Center, 24705 Farmington Road.

'Peter and the Wolf' begins concert series

Birmingham Community Band begins its second decade at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 15, in Seasholm High School with "Peter and the Wolf," its first Young People's Concert.

The band is directed by Grant Hoemke, director of its instrumental music at Farmington High School.

The featured soloists are trumpeter and Interlochen scholarship winner Josh Manthe; percussionist Mike Randall; and French hornist Ellen Manthe. Randall is an assistant band director at both Farmington High School and Harrison High.

Because of the sponsorship of Dalglish Cadillac-Peugeot and J. Walter Thompson-USA-Detroit, students high school age and under will be admitted free.

Adult tickets are $3. Tickets for senior adults are $2.

The concert is promoted by Birmingham-Bloomfield Women's Association, whose members will be serving cider and doughnuts in the lobby immediately after the performance.

Seniors' art exhibited

Members of the Farmington Hills Senior Adult painting classes will display their work in Farmington Community Center from Nov. 15-22.

Approximately 20 painters sponsored by the Farmington Hills Club will participate in the exhibit. The Farmington Hills Club has supplied the paint and the instructors for the classes, which meet every Wednesday afternoon in Mercy Center.

The Farmington Hills senior adult program is a function of the city's Department of Special Services. People interested in participating in the classes may contact Yvonne Singer at 474-6115, ext. 575.

The opening day of the art exhibit coincides with another special event at the community center: the Bess Bonnier Trio Concert. Tickets are still available. For reservations call the center at 477-8404.

The Farmington Community Center, on Farmington Road, north of 10 Mile, is a non-profit organization dedicated to the arts.

Open house is planned

Laura Novak shows Christmas Around the World merchandise for an open house 4-8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 9, in her home, 36124 Quakerdown.

The address is in old homestead subdivision, west of Drake Road, south of 12 mile.

HEART VS. STOMACH PROBLEM

Recently I saw a gentleman in my office who came in because of abdominal pain. He showed me the upper part of his abdomen and told me it was hurting in the center. He had the pain for about 24 hrs. and hoped it would go away. It especially hurt when walking. He denied any other problems, but he was also getting short of breath when walking. I asked if he tried a nitroglycerine tablet. He told me he had lost his own and had borrowed one from his neighbor and it did help him.

The story was quite suspicious for a heart attack, rather than a stomach problem. We did an electrocardiogram and were not surprised to see changes due to an acute heart attack. I gave him medications, sent him to the emergency room and he was admitted to the hospital.

His story may be unusual but it is not uncommon to see patients who thought they had stomach problems and gas, but actually experienced an acute heart attack. A very serious event that may not present itself in classic ways all the time.
