Sometimes Helping Kids Get Well Is Child's Play.

Sometimes It Isn't.

Whether it's play therapy or chemotherapy, the Center for Child and Adolescent Medicine treats children seriously. Using proven psychological techniques as well as the most advanced medical technology, highly-trained specialists work together to diagnose and treat many different problems, from dyslexia and other learning disorders to asthma and cancer. Whether they're emotional, physical, or both, a minor's problems are of major importance to us.

That's why we've established the Center for Child and Adolescent Medicine. Because at Mount Carmel we treat children seriously.

To find a pediatrician or receive a free information packet, call the Center's Referral Line at 927-7811.
