

Resolutions for camera buffs

AS THE New Year begins and as you make your list of resolutions, don't forget to include your photography.

Here's my list of all new 1988 photography resolutions to help you usher in a photo-filled 1988.

Resolve to get those favorite shots of yours enlarged, matted, framed and up on the wall. You're still thrilled by that Lake Michigan sunset you shot last summer and that candid of Junior nestled in Grandma's lap, so what are you waiting for? A small investment to get them on the wall will pay off in enjoyable dividends.

Keep your eyes open for the many photo contests in the Detroit area for 1988 and resolve to enter some of them. Unusual photographs with high emotional impact often place well and, of course, if you don't enter, you'll never know how well that special shot might have done.

And to help you prepare for that contest, how about resolving to take one of the many excellent photography classes or workshops that are given in the area? Or treat that certain friend or budding young photographer in your family to a class to keep the photography juices flowing.

DIDN'T FIND the wide angle lens you've been longing for under the tree on Christmas morning? Well then how about pleasing that special person, yourself, with an after-holiday gift? Buy it for yourself and enjoy it throughout the coming year.

Resolve to photograph subjects different than what you've always done or perhaps done in a different way. For starters, how about a photo-documentary? Photograph a year in the life on one of your children or document the old oak tree in the backyard as it appears during the different seasons throughout the year. Put your photographic hat on and you'll think of many subjects you can photo-document.

Resolve to take in more photography exhibits this year, look at more photography books and closely study and analyze photos you see every day. In short, begin in earnest to look at photographs. If you do, you'll be pleasantly surprised at how much you can learn.

And finally, does the winter weather keep you and your camera in hibernation? If so, then resolve to bundle up and head outdoors to capture some of winter's fantastic scenes on film. You'll be glad you did!

Nagler's winter class series begins Jan. 12 at the Farmington Community Center. For information, call 477-8404.

Ax-Ma special recital Feb. 20

Emanuel Ax, pianist, and Yo-Yo Ma, cellist, will be presented together in a special recital at Orchestra Hall at 8 p.m., Feb. 20.

Hailed as one of the most remarkable pianists of his generation, Ax has won prestigious prizes in the music world and performed with virtually every major orchestra in the United States, as well as those of Eastern and Western Europe, Latin America and the Orient. He has given countless recitals and recorded numerous albums.

Cellist Yo-Yo Ma gave his first public recital at the age of 5 and by the time he was 19 he was being compared with such masters as Rostropovich and Casals. Now 30, he is one of the most sought after instrumentalists in the world. In 1985 Ax and Ma collaborated on a recording of the Brahms Sonatas for cello and piano which won a Grammy Award that year.

With the addition of the Ax/Ma recital, Orchestra Hall is offering a mini-series ticket package which includes a new way to subscribe to the remaining concerts on the Guest Orchestras from Europe series.

To obtain single or series tickets call the Orchestra Hall box office 833-3700, 10 to 5 weekdays.
