Great frigate remembered

The USS Constitution, the oldest fully commissioned warship in the world's navies, is berthed in Boston today. She received her nickname "Old Ironsides" during battle with the British warship, Guerriere, in the War of 1812. The shots from the British guns were seen to bounce off her sturdy sides. The Quakerdown Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, encourages everyone to study the history of this great frigate which was launched on Oct. 21, 1797.
