DAR history essay contest winners are guests of honor

Becky Davis, regent of Quaker-town chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, will welcome the winners of the DAR American History Essay contest, their parents and teachers at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 16, in Farmington Hills Branch Library.

The reception for the contest winners will be highlighted with a program called "The Presidency: A Living Institution" given by Edward Wyzynski Jr., the account manager for Community Case Management Services Inc.

Wyzynski holds a bachelor of accountancy degree and is a sophomore at the Detroit College of Law. Wyzynski is a member of the American Bar Association, law student division; the State Bar of Michigan, law student section; National Association of Accountants; Sigma Nu Phi Fraternity and American Political Items Collectors. He will display his large collection of political artifacts.

Guests of honor for the afternoon are Heather Thares, eighth-grade winner from Warner Middle School and her parents, Don and Penny Thares; and Stephanie Frye, sixth-grade winner from Plymouth Christian Academy, her parents, Robert and Patricia Frye, her teacher Tammy Fontaine and principal Gareth Volz.

Jackie Lee, American History Month chairman for Quakertown chapter, will give each student a certificate and a bronze medal for excellence in American history.

The topic of the American History Essay contest for 1988 is "The U.S. Constitution: Roads to Ratification." The DAR American History Month committee has many activities designed to help preserve freedom by stimulating a deeper understanding of American History and encourages the study of American History in all grades of public, private and parochial schools. Each year it conducts an American History Essay contest for fifth through eighth grades.

Essays are judged at chapter, state, divisional and national levels. The four national winners, one from each grade, will have their essay and picture published in the Daughters of the American Magazine.

Clinic seeks couples for research project

Lafayette Clinic, a mental health facility in Detroit, is looking for couples who consider themselves to be happily married to participate in a research project. For participating in the project, these couples will receive a written analysis of 10 areas of marital interaction.

The clinic is also looking for couples who are experiencing distress in their marriage to participate in the project as well. These couples will receive 15 free marital therapy sessions. All interested couples need to have been married two or more years.

Anyone interested in participating in this project should call 256-9488 for further information or to schedule an appointment.

Men, if you're about to turn 18, it's time to register with Selective Service at any U.S. Post Office.

It's quick. It's easy.
And it's the law.
