

Borgess smashes U-D

By Brad Emona
staff writer

Coach Mike Fusco screamed, pleaded and cowered his Redford Bishop Borgess basketball team into a 71-62 victory over University of Detroit-Jesuit High Thursday in the Catholic League A-B Division semifinals at U-D's Caliban Hall.

It was not a vintage Borgess performance, but it was good enough for the defending A-B champions. "We played well offensively, but not defensively or rebounding," said Fusco. "I don't think we came out and rebounded tonight. Our statistics had them (U-D) outbounding us 8-7 in the first half. With the kind of advantage we had, we should have out-rebounded them throughout the game."

Scrappy U-D, which lost for only the second time in 18 games, couldn't overcome Borgess's 6-foot-7 center Parish Hickman, who tallied a game-high 29 points; and 6-5 forward Da Juan Smith, who finished with 20.

Fusco said Hickman played well on the offensive end.

"Shot selection is always a concern with our players, especially basketball

Parish," said the Borgess coach. "He's improving, but he still needs to get the kinks out."

U-D'S SECOND LEADING scorer, 6-7 Joe Wagner, never got the kinks out. He went scoreless while playing sprightly on a hobbled leg.

But U-D, which trailed by only a point with 4:41 to play, had others pick up the slack including sharpshooting guard Bobby Dinges (23 points), Tony Thomas (15), Tony Camilleri (14) and Walter Winston (10).

Borgess jumped out to a 9-0 lead, but Dinges brought the Cubs back, scoring 11 straight points during a two-minute span to close out the first quarter, pulling U-D to within one, 17-16.

"I don't think we played as well as a defensive game as we can play," Fusco said. "We wanted to play defense with a shade of defense on Dinges."

"Our thinking was we were going to pressure Thomas and Winston full-court and get up on Dinges half-court. We wanted to make sure we pressured the perimeter."

Borgess led by only two at the half before opening up an eight-point lead in the third quarter. BUT THE CUBS charged back once again, cutting the deficit to one, 56-55, on Winston's three-point play midway through the final quarter.

But Borgess put on another one of its patented spurts, repelling U-D's bid as Smith's basket with 1:52 to go pushed the margin back to eight, 68-58, with 1:52 remaining.

Hickman then accentuated the victory with a two-handed slam-dunk behind the head as the buzzer sounded.

"We'll hit a good flow for about two or three minutes and then adrenaline will start flowing," said Fusco. "And because we want to keep it (the flow) going, we'll often lose concentration and get out of sync because we're too pumped up."

Those types of spurts Fusco would rather avoid, but the Borgess coach made his players had his full attention. He tried to control things from the bench as much as possible.

His raspy voice proved that afterwards.

Raiders outdo city opponents

North Farmington won the city championship in gymnastics Wednesday with strong performances by Kristen Szutarski, Nicki Yuskowatz, Tina Hauptman and Rita Dunn.

Farmington's Jackie Daly and Harrison's Jenny Rick also fared well, but neither team could match the wealth of ability on North's perennial powerhouse team. The Raiders, 6-1 overall, posted a 128.3 time, Farmington 117.55 and Harrison 95.25.

"It was the last meet before the league meet, and I wanted them to go out on a high note," North coach Jeff Dwyer said.

"We're hitting our routines pretty well and, if we keep it up, we should be all right. We're being consistent, and that's what I'm always looking for."

The defending Western Lakes champion Raiders and Plymouth Canton are considered the favorites heading into Thursday's league meet at North. The competition begins at 5 p.m.

Hauptman is recovering from a knee injury and competed only on the uneven bars, which she won with an 8.1 score. She should be ready to compete Thursday, Dwyer said.

Szutarski and Daly tied for first place on vault with a 9.3 scores, and Daly also edged Yuskowatz for top billing on the balance beam, 8.75 to 8.70.

gymnastics

Daly has missed going to state on the vault by narrow margins each of the last two years, but Farmington coach Mary Beth Schornhorst hopes this year will be different.

Yuskowatz got her chance to stand in the limelight when the competition moved to floor exercise. She won that event with an 8.65 and edged teammate Dunn (8.60) by the same margin Daly had won the beam competition from her.

Yuskowatz had the best all-around score with a 33.8, which was the result of also finishing third on vault (8.65) and bars (7.8). Szutarski scored 33.75, Daly 32.6 and Rick 29.35.

Szutarski placed second on bars (8.05) and Farmington's Debbie Ford fourth (7.15), and Rick was fourth on vault (8.3). Daly got third on floor (8.5) and Szutarski fourth (8.25).

The Falcons, 5-9 overall, had their best team performance on beam, with Daly winning it, Amber Arbuckle tying Dunn and Harrison's Amy Solomon for third place (8.25) and Julie Lawton scoring 8.0 for seventh.

Clarenceville falls shy against Fraser

Livonia's Clarenceville couldn't overcome the star-studded performance of Fraser's All Berant Wednesday, losing a gymnastics dual meet at home, 128.95 to 123.95.

Berant won all four individual titles and ran away with the all-around championship, scoring 34.75 points.

Clarenceville's Julie Mansell was her nearest competitor, scoring 31.85 all-around, followed by Denise Ahnert with a 31.75.

The non-conference loss drops Clarenceville to 9-4 overall. The Trojans remain unbeaten in the Metro Conference, however, at 6-0. Clarenceville hosted the league meet Saturday. (Results will appear in Thursday's Observer.)

gymnastics

Berant's best performance came on the beam, where she scored a 9.05. Clarenceville took the next three spots, with Ahnert securing the second position at 8.0 and Mansell taking the third at 7.95. Clarenceville's Colleen Wood placed fourth with 7.90 points.

Mansell and Ahnert reversed on the bars, as Mansell placed second with an 8.2 and Ahnert third at 8.0. Ahnert placed second on the vault, scoring 8.1, with Berant placing first at 8.50.

Big year on tap at DRC

The management at Ladbroke Detroit Race Course is planning its biggest year ever.

Ladbroke DRC has scheduled 31 stake races totaling $1.2 million from April 2 through Sept. 5. The richest ever in Detroit Race Course history.

The Livonia track opens up March 25, but the first stakes event will be Saturday, April 2, when the 4th running of the $20,000 Renaissance Stakes will be run for three-year-old horses.

The highlight of the year will be the running of the $300,000-added

Michigan Mile on Saturday, July 15. The purse has been increased by $50,000 over last year, making it the richest race ever to be contested at DRC.

Other races on the agenda are the $50,000 and $40,000 Michigan-bred races held July 4 and September 5.

"It is the most ambitious stakes program ever undertaken in the long history of thoroughbred racing at Detroit Race Course," Michael Mackey, vice president and general manager of Ladbroke DRC said. "We are committed to a quality thoroughbred racing program."

CC dominates regional foes

Now it starts to get interesting in the state team-wrestling tournament.

Will Redford Catholic Central be tested in its next match? Maybe. Maybe not.

The Shamrocks have been so overpowering this season it's debatable whether or not there is a team that can stay with them in a dual meet.

What is certain is that two of the biggest names in Michigan high school wrestling will go head-to-head Wednesday in the quarterfinal round.

CC set up a showdown with Temperance Bedford by winning its own regional last Wednesday, outscoring two opponents 113-23. The top-ranked Shamrocks face the Mules, a perennial power in the sport, at 7 p.m. at Plymouth Salem.

BEDFORD WON its own regional also, by beating Western Lakes champion Westland John Glenn 53-23 and, in the final, Adrian 37-27.

CC improved its record to 17-0 by crushing Salem 68-4 after whipping Novi, one of the best teams in the area next to the Shamrocks, 45-19. The Rocks got to the final by thumping Farmington 51-17.

Salem coach Ron Krueger chose not to wrestle the three members of his team who had qualified for the individual state tournament. Jeff Delbecke (105), Dave Mang (119) and Steve Burdick (155) participated in the dual with Farmington but sat out the final against CC.

Farmington's lone state qualifier, 132-pound Rob Woodbeck, didn't wrestle against Salem, either. The Falcons chose to forfeit at that weight.

In the championship match, the Shamrocks got pins from Kevin Rowe (98), Jim Raglow (105), Matt Helm (126), Chris Lemanski (167) and Ted Rieple (185), and Lee Krueger (198) won by technical fall at 5:30. Rowe pinned in 1:50, Raglow 1:06, Helm 3:52, Lemanski 2:52 and Rieple 2:45.

Mike Gentile (112), Jay Helm (119), Brendon Rock (138) and Brian Tulley (155) won by decision, and Chris Rodriguez (149) and heavy-weight Tony Heaton were forfeit winners. Salem's only points came on Mike Shumate's 12-2 decision at 132.

CC WRESTLERS who also won against Novi included Raglow, Gentile, Jay Helm, Rodriguez, Rieple and Heaton. Justin Snyder wrestled and won in place of Lemanski at 167.

In his on-going battle with Brett Keir, Krueger suffered his second loss in as many bouts with the Novi wrestler, dropping a 9-5 decision. Krueger, who had beaten Keir three times earlier in the season, led to him in the individual regional tournament, and there was a possibility the two would resume their rivalry last Saturday in the individual state finals.

Salem won the first seven bouts against Farmington, a co-champion in the Lakes Division along with the Rocks, and held a commanding, 39-0 lead after the 138-pound contest.
